[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MANILA, June 14, 4:20 p.m.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gen. Lawton, with Stewart's cavalry, rode to Bacoor this morning. He found that the insurgents had evacuated the place and moved toward Imus, leaving two heavy smooth-bore cannon behind them. The bay front of the church resembles a papier-mâché box, as the result of the terrific fire of the war vessels. A large quantity of ammunition was found by the Americans and destroyed. A battalion of the Ninth Infantry replaced the cavalry in garrisoning the town.

Gen. Wheaton made a reconnaissance this afternoon toward Imus, where the enemy are strongly entrenched, having retreated in good order after their defeat at Zapote.

Many refugees are returning to Las Piñas. Forty-eight Filipinos who were killed in the trenches at the Zapote bridge yesterday were buried by the Americans this morning. The majority of them were victims of the artillery fire of Kenley's battery. Sixty-five Filipino prisoners, with guns, were captured last night.

THE RETREAT TO IMUS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MANILA, June 14, 4:40 p.m.—The Filipinos retreated several miles southward after yesterday's engagement to the strongly-fortified town of Imus. The shelling of the American warships drove the rebels from Bacoor.

The Americans control several more miles of the coast.

Gen. Lawton, with his staff and a troop of the Fourth Cavalry, started to ascertain the nature of the insurgents' position. He rode five miles along the coast to Bacoor, without discovering the enemy. He found the town full of white flags, but there were no soldiers there.

The women and children, who had fled to the woods during the bombardment, were camping in the ruins of their homes. The shells had almost knocked the town to pieces. The big church was wrecked and many buildings were ruined. Even the trees and shrubbery were torn as if by a hailstorm. Several hundred women and children came into the American lines for refuge, and the road from Bacoor was covered all day long with processions of them on foot and in carts, driving animals and carrying goods on their heads.

The appearance of the battlefield testified to the fierceness of yesterday's fighting. The trees along the river, between the lines, are almost torn down by shells. The American officers estimate that 100 insurgents were killed, and that 300 were wounded during the engagement. The next battle will probably be fought at Imus.

The American troops will soon control the coast to Cavite.

GEN. OTIS'S REPORT.

commission in Congress and the speeches against the sugar refining company are absolutely devoid of truth and justice. The testimony of Congress, however, to enact something into law contrary to what the sugar refining industry properly requires resulted, irrespective of the great injury and injustice done in the passage of the bill, in the scheduling of the sugar refining company.

"Whether the sugar refining company has been a benefit or injury to the community can best be expressed in a table showing the prices for a considerable period prior to the formation of the trust, and for a corresponding period subsequent thereto.

"The difference since its formation shows an advantage to the consumer—not that 'consumer'—of over one-eighth of a cent per pound.

"What the sugar company has done in diversifying its business, the tariff, or any extreme protection under the tariff, but out of conditions perfectly legitimate and commendable. The record shows conclusively that no advantage has ever been taken by the company of any protection, except of the sugar companies, that is, 2¢ per pound under the tariff."

"The sugar company undoubtedly tries its utmost to enlarge its business, but does it in a way which considers the only proper one, that is, by making the price so low as to defy competition.

"It is my opinion that corporations are under no obligation whatever to any of the States for their existence. Quite the reverse; the States are under obligation to them. If the plants of the industries were put on wheels and moved from State to State, you would find very active bidding for them. It is not an unusual thing for certain localities to guarantee free taxation for two years, free water and in some instances free land to corporations to have them organized under their statutes and locate in their States.

"Hostility to capital meets with its own condemnation. That is illus- trated by the situation in New York, where a discrimination against capital has prevented its employment and driven elsewhere, resulting in a greatly increased taxation and a tendency to increase the number of unemployed."

"All we have to say about trade organization and strikes is that without violence, they are natural. They have one objection, however, their tendency to reduce all labor to a low level."

"Business is not philanthropy. Capital and labor will adjust their own relations if they are let alone. Interference always operates against one or the other. That means to the disadvantage of both."

"There is no such thing as monopoly in these days, except that which results from patents and copyrights."

"The true economic principle is the customs tariff bill. It says to the people: 'Here is the law we have enacted for your robbery. Do not complain of it, but do your utmost to attack and injure the machinery engaged in exacting from you what we legislate shall be taken from you.' Keep the clutter while the voters on the tariff bill take advantage of the noise and enact laws that cause your impoverishment, and thus contribute to the greed and avarice of the few."

"No More Trusts in Texas."

AUSTIN (Tex.) June 14.—Atty.-Gen. Sayers has received a letter from the Civic Federation in Chicago relative to the anti-trust convention proposed to be held in St. Louis in September. The letter states that the association has received assurances from the Governors and Attorneys General of thirty-four States that they will be in attendance. In addition thereto, a number of mercantile agencies have requested permission to be participants in the meeting, which will be granted them. The Governor received letters from Gov. Atkinson of West Virginia and from Gov. Wolcott of Massachusetts indicating his anti-trust convention, but regretting that they will be unable to attend.

company in preserving and extending its business. In the earlier history of the enterprise, he said, it could not fight the battles of Philadelphia. "But we had to fight Spreckels when he came into the field with his enormous plant. We had to do that or suspend our dividends. We went into the fight, and we kept it up until we got the result."

"The late drop in the price of sugar had been caused by the starting of new refineries, which had threatened to take 50 per cent. of the business."

"It was a part of our policy to put prices down, and the opposition took that result, whatever it may be. Every sale made by the opposition displaces so much of the company's product," he said. "We must protect our own business."

"Mr. Havemeyer then went on to say that what the company did, it did not do for motives of philanthropy—that it had its own shareholders to protect.

"Anybody can buy our stock," he continued, "and as a consequence the public owns the stock. But I doubt whether the people would want any more of the stock."

"How many stockholders have you?" asked Prof. Jenks.

"About 11,000," he replied, and added, "enough to take Cuba, and they would like it if they could."

"The latter remark was made in a light vein. He stated as his opinion that Cuban sugar ought to be brought in free of duty, and that this course would force refined sugar down to 3 cents a pound.

Speaking of the coffee business Mr. Havemeyer said he was in the bushiness and in it to stay.

ANTI-TRUST CONVENTION.

AUSTIN (Tex.) June 14.—Atty.-Gen. Smith has issued instructions to the Secretary of State Hardy that hereafter no corporation chartered under the laws of the state should be granted a permit to do business in this State. Atty.-Gen. Smith takes his action on the ground that the granting of such permits is against public policy.

MINERS WON'T LIKE IT.

Mining Ditches Allowed in Government Parks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Assistant Attorney-General Vandevere of the Interior Department has given an opinion, on request of Congressman Devitt of California, relative to the authority of the Secretary of the Interior to grant rights-of-way through Yosemitic and other park reservations in California, for the construction of mining ditches.

Vandevere says under no act is such a privilege allowed. Acts specifying rights-of-way may be granted for the construction of ditches for public and domestic purposes and the development of water power, but none dare be constructed for mining purposes.

EXTRAVAGANCE SANCTIONED.

Soldiers' Home Managers' Private Car Bill Allowed.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 14.—T. P. Mitchell, Assistant Comptroller of the Currency, has issued a decision on the appeal from the decision from the War Department in disallowing vouchers for the hiring of a private car for the use of the Board of Managers of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, from Chicago to Los Angeles, Cal., and return in 1897. The cost of the car and subsistence during the trip, which amounted to $1,000 and a half day was $2,236. The Assistant Comptroller holds that while it is not entirely clear that the mode of travel selected by the Board of Managers was the most economical, yet he does not think it so unreasonable as to authorise a disallowance.

PRISONERS IN TEXAS.

LEE AND GILLILAND EN ROUTE TO ALAMO GORDO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) June 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oliver M. Lee and James Gilliland, who were acquitted at Hillsboro, New Mexico, Monday night of the murder of Henry Fountain, reached here today in custody of George Curry, Sheriff of Otero County, and return in 1897. The cost of the car and subsistence during the trip, which amounted to $1,000 and a half day was $2,236.

The witness confessed that his company had very little regard for the welfare of rivals in business, saying that prestige, ability, experience and wealth would win in the long run in the struggle, and that trusts were an example of the survival of the fittest in business.

"That is trade," he said, "and the sooner you realize it and quit trying to control it by Federal legislation the better for all. A man cannot expect to make himself rich unless he is nursed by the government. If men do not want to buy our stocks, they need not. Then don't send government protection. If they wade in and get stuck, let them get out, and if they wade again, the fate of rival interests is their affair, not ours."

He declared that the tariff enabled the steel-rollers to mullet the public to the extent of $9 per ton, and said incidentally that Mr. Carnegie had not yet stated what he was going to do with the iron.

On the question of labor, Mr. Havemeyer said the laboring element were forced to form organizations, but that in doing so they sacrificed much independence, and the unions had the effect of bringing other men down to their level.

He contended that he was a friend of labor, and said that good men in the employ of the trust were paid 10 per cent. more than they could get elsewhere.

Mr. Havemeyer said that many things were done in business which were not to the public's interest, but that business conditions often required conduct justifying such characterization. The farmers, he thought, ought to establish a trust for their protection.

He declared that his company had not gone into a combination with any of the independent refineries. Reports that such consolidation had been effected were untrue.

Although the court denied bail to the defendants, "when they were brought to this State two months ago, they were allowed the freedom of the town without escort.

They also visited Juarez, Mexico, with the deputy sheriff and could easily have escaped had they desired to do so.

LYNCHING IN TENNESSEE.

Mob Hangs a Negro Released from a Burglary Charge.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) June 14.—A special to the Appeal from New Orleans Edward Green, a negro, was arrested in St. John Parish about a year ago, charged with a series of burglaries and was released this morning after having been released by the authorities because there was no evidence against him.

When released he started to the home of friends at St. Peter, La., made his way as far as an Reserve, where he's strength gave out. Charles Thibodeaux gave the negro a blanket and allowed him a place to sleep. During the night a mob crossed the river and taking Gray from where he was resting, hanged him to a tree.

Replies to questions by Prof. Jenks after he had concluded the reading of his paper, Mr. Havemeyer said the American Sugar Refining Co. was not capitalized for much less than it was worth. "But for the clamor against trusts," he said, "it could be sold for three times its capitalization." The present capacity of the trust, he said, "is 40,000 barrels a day, and the output 30,000."

He thought the trust was refining about 90 per cent. of the sugar refined in the United States. The witness spoke freely of the methods of the State Convention Meets at Harrisburg and Gets into a Deadlock Over the Selection of a Candidate.

Platform Adopted Eulogizes Bryan, but Insists That the Campaign Shall Hinge on Alleged Republican Misrule.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HARRISBURG (Pa.) June 14.—Four hundred and thirty-five representatives of the Democracy of Pennsylvania met here today for the purpose of nominating candidates for Supreme Court Judge and State Treasurer. Shortly after midnight the convention adjourned until tomorrow morning without having accomplished the first and most complete piece of work cut out for them, namely, the selection of a candidate for Supreme Judge. Nearly six hours were consumed in the preliminary work of the convention, and between 6 o'clock and midnight, with an hour's intermission for supper, the delegates cast eleven fruitless ballots for a score or more candidates for that high office, the deadlock at midnight being apparently as firm as it was at 6 o'clock.

When adjournment was had there were eleven candidates in the field, with votes ranging from 13 to 72, the highest being a long way off from the 21 necessary to elect. The determined battle arises from the fact that the nominee is sure to be elected to serve twenty years.

At this writing the fight appears to have narrowed down to Judge Kennedy of Allegheny and Judge Yerkes of Bucks. It is believed that one of these gentlemen will be nominated in short order tomorrow.

The platform adopted reaffirms briefly the Chicago platform and eulogizes Bryan's leadership, but contends that the campaign shall be confined to a fight against alleged Republican misrule and "Quayism." National Committee-man Guyford dominated the platform council, and its various planks are said to be satisfactory to him.

CONVENTION ASSEMBLES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

HARRISBURG, June 14.—When the convention assembled in the evening the balloting for Supreme Judge was resumed, and after the eleventh ballot had been taken, an adjournment was ordered until tomorrow morning. Up to the eleventh ballot there was practically no change, but this time the first notable gain was scored, Kennedy of Allegheny receiving 72 votes.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OMAHA, June 14.—A special to the Bee from Herman, Neb., says:

"Ten persons dead, twenty-five injured, five of whom will die, and half of the remainder suffering from very serious wounds, sums up the list of casualties resulting from the cyclone that wrecked this place on Tuesday night.

"The loss of property aggregates $100,000. One hundred buildings have been destroyed. Only six structures remain intact, three on the north and the same number on the south part of town. These comprise four residences, the schoolhouse, and one church.

"The population is in a pitiable condition. Those who lost their homes, and there are about 500 of them, are absolutely without resources, and must depend upon public charity for sustenance and a chance to begin life over again. The few who escaped without injury or loss of property are so completely dazed that they do not know what to do."

"The work of relief has already begun. About a hundred of the unfortunate are housed at Blair. The little town today planned $200 as a relief fund, and the Washington county authorities appropriated $500 for the same purpose. Two more tents were sent out from Blair this afternoon, and are tonight occupied by the homeless. The Blair fire department has gone on guard all day at the scene of the disaster, keeping depredators away, though there is nothing left to steal. Household goods went to pieces in the wild swirl that obliterated the town.

"Advices from Blair tonight state that most of the injured there are doing well. The dead will be buried tomorrow. It is expected in a few days the work of rebuilding will begin. Offers of assistance are pouring in from all quarters."

THE STRICKEN TOWN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

HERMAN (Neb.) June 14.—Ten were killed and about twenty-five injured in last night's tornado. It is thought all are now accounted for, unless the storm has been more disastrous in the country than anticipated. Not a single building in the town is left whole.

It is reported that the tornado which struck this village wrecked several houses at Dane Hollow. Two persons were killed and ten are reported severely injured.

DETAILS OF THE DISASTER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

OMAHA, June 14.—A special to the Bee from Blair, Neb., says:

"One of the worst storms in the history of Eastern Nebraska visited Herman, Neb., last evening about 6:30 o'clock. The storm took the form of a tornado about two miles west of Herman, and after traveling west a short distance, turned back, taking a due east course until within half a mile of the town. It then took a south-easterly course, covering a strip about twenty-five rods wide, but wide enough to clear out the whole town of Herman. Two or three residences still remain in the outskirts of the town, though much damaged. The Methodist Church and the school are the only other buildings left. The church is being used as a hospital and morgue.

"The body of Mrs. Hopkins was carried forty rods and dropped in an orchard. The town proper is totally destroyed. Train No. 2 on the Omaha road pulled into Herman just after the storm, and its crew began the work of rescue. Nearly 100 persons were brought back to Blair. This morning relief and assistance were sent to the homeless people, many of whom had been out in the rain all night.

"There was but one tornado insurance policy in the town, and that for but a trifling amount. The balance is all a loss. The house that fell followed the street practically undamaged what had not been destroyed by the wind. The storm came on very slowly, giving most people ample time to reach their cellars. Instead of taking a straight course, the storm seemed to zig-zag back and forth. A delegation of Blair men are now on the ground doing patrol duty. A large number whose names are not reported, are severely injured, while half of those reported have received possibly fatal injuries."

TRAVELING MAN'S TALE.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

BLAIR (Neb.) June 14.—One of the best descriptions of the storm was received from J. A. Kelly, a Council Bluffs traveling man.

"With a number of other guests, I was dining in the hotel," he said, "when suddenly it began to rise and grew very violent. I hastened to the window and looked to the north. I could see two immense clouds separated by quite a bit of sky swirling and churning wrathfully. All at once I felt that tornado was at hand. Our servant, who was sitting at the window, saw that the two divisions of clouds were rapidly converging into the traditional funnel-shape. But while we looked it seemed to us that the cloud would sweep to the west and avoid the town. When it reached the point to the northwest it was terrified to see it directly for the town. We all hurried into the cellar, and saw no more of the tornado, but we knew by the frightful din that it was working havoc in the town. When it had passed we emerged from the cellar and found that the house had been wrecked and that every building in the town had been blown down, with the exception of a solitary few on the outskirts."

"The tornado swept down the main street, crushing the buildings as though they were straws. The brick building of importance in the town was the bank. After the storm I do not recall seeing it, and I presume it, too, was destroyed. The town was a pile of débris. In front of us we could see horses, pigs and frame buildings. The ground was a mass of mud, showing how many persons were killed or how many were injured. I saw several dead and many wounded. Of course there were many still alive after the storm, and they did all they could to assist in the work of rescue. When the first train left I came to Blair."

FREAKS OF THE WIND.

Mr. Kelly and several others referred to one queer freak of the wind which they had observed. At a point two blocks northwest of the Burlington Hotel workmen had nearly completed a huge tank, which was to supply the city with water. The tank weighed in the neighborhood of twelve tons. When the storm had passed the tank was found close to the house practically uninjured.

The work of getting the dead and wounded out of the débris is progressing slowly, and is likely to prove a long and difficult task.

George Coyle, the depot agent, saw the furious cloud swooping down upon the doomed town and realized that it would carry away the depot. He abandoned the building and made his way to a cellar close at hand and escaped with a gash on the head which was caused by a flying stick. He had hardly reached shelter when the depot was shattered into a thousand pieces and went into the air as though it had been exploded by a 13-inch shell. This was but the prelude of a similar fate which befell practically every building in the town.

DISHEARTENING SITUATION.

When the relief party on the second train, including every physician in Blair, arrived at Herman, they were confronted by most disheartening obstacles. The ruins of the little town were enveloped in darkness. Occasionally a rift in the flying clouds let a little light through, but it only served to bring out in a few moments a ragged outline of the debris which were regarded as the tombs of those who were still reported missing. Unsupplied with the necessary implements to dig, the relief party found itself baffled in its endeavor to find the bodies of the dead. A few torches were lighted and the party broke up into bands which traversed the town, exploring the surface of the grewsome heaps, which were filled with the carcasses of dead horses, pigs and cows.

NEW RICHMOND VICTIMS.

Work of Searching for Bodies Progressing Slowly.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW RICHMOND (Wis.) June 14.—No bodies were recovered from the tornado ruins last night, the work being abandoned on account of a heavy rain and exhaustion of the working parties.

No organized movement looking to the recovery of the dead or the distribution of supplies has been inaugurated as yet, but order is beginning finally to show amid the chaos and demoralization prevalent since the disaster.

Telegrams from all parts of the country, from San Francisco to Boston, are pouring in, asking for the safety of relatives and friends. No official list of the dead and injured has been kept, and replies to many of these inquiries will necessarily be slow. Money and supplies are being forwarded financial assistance. The total amount thus far offered is about $2600.

The militia is patrolling the business section of the town, and nobody is permitted inside the lines.

It is expected that the task of looking for the dead will be undertaken with greater success than yesterday. The number still in the ruins is variously estimated from fifty up to one hundred.

O. W. Mosher, who has been at the head of the relief work, says that the估计数 of children are still missing and a large number of adults as well. This estimate is generally considered too large. The working party expects to find fifteen to twenty-five bodies in the basement of Williams' hardware store.

All the morning funerals were passing through the town. There was but one street passable from east to west across the town, and this was a narrow, muddy thoroughfare between the ruins of buildings. Frequently the streets became as a few broad east and one going in the opposite direction would meet. There were no hearseas, and the dead were carried to the graves in grocery wagons.

During the early part of the morning there was a lack of men to dig graves, but it was found necessary to impress laborers from the throngs of sight-seers.

No more bodies have been recovered up to noon.

MANY NEW GRAVES.

Funeral Processions in Constant Succession at New Richmond.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW RICHMOND (Wis.) June 14.—Thirty-two new graves were made today in the two little cemeteries at opposite sides of the town, a constant succession of funerals treading the passage through the littered streets all day long.

The work of clearing up the town was undertaken in a systematic manner this morning, and decided progress was made. The numerous dead animals lying around were all buried today.

Members of the Cabinet admit the President is reluctant to issue a call, and is still hopeful that Gen. Otis will master the situation with his present force and the reinforcements already en route to the Philippines. It is now believed, however, that the time has come for the President to take advantage of the power conferred on him by the last Congress.

Careful estimates have been made at the War Department, and allowing a fair percentage for garrisons, for the sick and wounded, Otis will not at any time have more than 20,000 men for effective fighting force. At least 15,000 more will be required to bring the fighting force up to 30,000.

REINFORCEMENT PLANS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Talks with Cabinet officers today bring the belief almost to a certainty that the President will, upon his return from his eastern trip, issue a call for at least 15,000 volunteers.

Two of the President's advisors are already strongly in favor of it and the results of the last engagements with the Filipinos have about convinced the President himself.

It is not pleasant to admit that the American forces have made little net gain in Luzon since the first operations of suppression of the rebellion, but that is the simple truth. There is a rapidly-growing sentiment, east, west, north and south, in favor of sending Gen. Otis enough men to crush the rebellion.

Members of the Cabinet admit the

REINFORCEMENT PLANS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The War Department has practically perfected plans for augmenting the fighting force in the Philippines by 5000 men, thus providing

Gen. Otis with an army of 35,000, which will insure an available force, at all times fit for service, of 30,000 men, the number asked for. None of these additional troops will be taken from regiments serving in Cuba.

There are ninety-eight batteries in seven regiments of the regular artillery. Seventeen of these batteries are in the Philippines and twenty-five men will be taken from each of the remaining batteries. Through that reduction the Philippine army will be assigned to duty in the Philippines.

The number of troops of cavalry in the regular army is 120, divided among ten regiments. One full regiment of twelve troops, the Fourth, has been assigned to duty in the Philippines.

By an order issued yesterday, each company of infantry in the Philippines will be increased from 112 to 128 men.

As there is no authority in law to organize additional regiments of the regular army, the War Department has been obliged to adopt this scheme to provide for the surplus of 5000 men.

GOLD TO BE PLENTY.

UPPER YUKON RIVER IS NOW OPEN FOR NAVIGATION.

The season is late at Dawson, but many prospectors are flocking to the Gold Fields.

Claim Owners are jubilant over prospect for the coming season, but reflect about their work.

Fruit Canners' Trust Formed at San Francisco—Los Gatos Postoffice Burned—Launching at Fort Bragg.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) PORT TOWNSEND (Wash.), June 14.—The upper Yukon River is now open for navigation, and the steamer Flora, which left Dawson, May 26, arrived at White Horse Rapids June 3. One of her passengers, William P. Allen of Seattle, who arrived here to-night on the steamer Al-Ki, reports the Yukon River open for navigation at Dawson, May 17, nine days later than last year. The trip was made without difficulty until Lake Marsh was reached, where the ice had to be cut. He reports twenty-four loaded scows at Tagish. Between Tagish and Bennett, fifty more scows were passed, all loaded and bound for Dawson.

Two years ago she filed a petition in the Superior Court to require of Mrs. McKay that she pay for the past support of the children and for their future maintenance. The lower court ordered him to pay $3750 for their past support and $100 per month hereafter, which McKay appealed.

The Supreme Court sustained the appeal and reversed the order of the Superior Court, holding that McKay cannot be held responsible or liable for expenses incurred after the divorce was granted.

WELBURN TRIAL TODAY.

Motion to Dismiss the Embazement Proceedings is Denied.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The trial of O. M. Welburn will come up for a hearing tomorrow in the United States District Court before Judge De Haven.

An effort was made by Gavin McNab, attorney for the accused, to have the proceedings set aside on the ground that the charges against his client have already been tried and dismissed.

When Mr. McNab had finished arguing the point, the United States District Attorney moved for a hearing to dismiss on the ground that the charges on which the once defaulting collector of internal revenue is about to be tried, are entirely new and foreign to the cases for which he was formerly indicted, tried and acquitted, in 1881. The dates, amounts of money involved, and the persons concerned are different. The motion to dismiss was denied.

THREE BODIES FOUND.

One May Be That of Catamaran Disaster Victim Henderson.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.) STOCKTON, June 14.—Indications are that the body of Walter Henderson, drowned with Miss Kafitz in the recent catamaran disaster, has been found. At the San Joaquin brick yard three miles below the scene of the accident, a body was found by one of the embers. A telephone message stating that it was Henderson's corpse was sent to the Coroner, who has gone to investigate.

Another report was sent in to the effect that a body was found floating near Joe Hale's place and picked up by a scowner. This is five miles from the scene of the accident. Yet another body was found this morning at Bouldin. The last is supposed to be that of a man who jumped from the steamer Peters recently. It is believed that one of the others is Henderson.

REHEARING IS REFUSED.

Supreme Court Denies the Application of Theodore Fox.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The Supreme Court today refused to grant a rehearing in the suits of Theodore Fox against John W. Mackay and others. Fox sued as a stockholder and on behalf of the stockholders of the Consolidated California and Virginia Mining Company. The bill alleged fraud on the part of Mackay and of James L. Flood during the lifetime of the latter.

It was alleged that a contract was let by the company represented by Flood and Mackay for mining tons of ore 70 per cent of the pulp amount of which it was stipulated should be returned. Fox alleged that less than 70 per cent was returned. The lower court found against him and his application for a new trial has been denied.

SOUGHT A GRAVE.

Fresno Man Asks Coroner to Bury Him, Then Dies.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.) FRESNO, June 14.—Fred Perkins, aged 24 years, died at the County Hospital last night from what is supposed to be a case of alcoholism.

Perkins had been on a protracted spree for two weeks and last Thursday he called upon Coronet Long and requested the Coroner to bury him.

It was alleged that a contract was let by the company represented by Flood and Mackay for mining tons of ore 70 per cent of the pulp amount of which it was stipulated should be returned. Fox alleged that less than 70 per cent was returned. The lower court found against him and his application for a new trial has been denied.

OVERDUE VESSEL SAFE.

Port Albert Reaches Seattle Eleven Days from San Francisco.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.) SEATTLE, June 14.—The overdue vessel Port Albert arrived in port today, eleven days from San Francisco. Her delay was caused by the breaking down of her machinery. She encountered rough weather and heavy head winds, soon after leaving San Francisco.

The young man had been employed as porter at the Hughes Hotel up till about two weeks ago. He claimed to be a cousin of Lieut. Perkins of the U.S. Philadelphia.

POSTOFFICE BURNED.

Los Gatos Fire Causes a Heavy Loss. Records Saved.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.) SAN JOSE, June 14.—The Rankin Block at Los Gatos, in which the post-office was situated, was destroyed by fire about 2 o'clock this morning. The postoffice was located on the street floor, the remainder of the building being in the basement.

The fire was discovered in the kitchen of the hotel, and was under good headway. The two fire companies of the town turned out promptly, and did excellent work in saving adjoining buildings. There was much excitement in the little city, and hundreds of citizens gathered at the burning building.

With plenty of help at hand, all the records and mail of the postoffice were saved and many movable fixtures.

The contents of the hotel were lost. A building only twelve feet away was saved, but only with great damage. The block belongs to Clara B. Rankin. The total loss is placed at about $10,000. There is insurance of about $10,000. The postoffice has been opened in another building and is doing business as usual today, though as yet in some confusion.

SPRECKLES SUIT ENDED.

Compromise Results in Judgment Against R. A. Graham.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Judgment has been entered by Judge Bahns in favor of the plaintiff in the suit of the J. D. Spreckles & Bros. Co. against R. A. Graham for $523,162 on a promissory note, with interest at 6 per cent, per annum from April 1, 1888.

This judgment is in accordance with a compromise made by the parties. The mortgage on the securities given for the payment of the note has been foreclosed by the judgment, but a stay of execution for six months was allowed. This ending of the suit is the result of a compromise, which was reached.

FORT BRAGG LAUNCHING.

Immense River Barge is Rapidly Nearing Completion.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.) FORT BRAGG, June 14.—There will be launched at the ship yards of Rideout & Empay an immense barge which that firm is constructing for the J. S. Kimball Company. The barge will be christened "Fort Bragg," and her dimensions are as follows: Length, 162 feet, beam, 35 feet, depth, 61 feet 2 inches, draft, light, ten inches; capacity 700 tons.

The barge has issued invitations to a large number of citizens to be present at the launching and christening ceremony. Miss Mabel Mulson, a very popular and beautiful young woman of Fort Bragg daughter of Henry Mulson, a City Trustee, has been selected to name the craft.

The occasion of the launching will be a gala day. The citizens have arranged to present the new boat with a splendid American flag. After the launching the vessel will be towed to San Francisco. It is destined for service on the San Joaquin and Sacramento rivers.

DECISION IS REVERSED.

Divorce Husband Irresponsible for Children's Support.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—A decision was rendered today by the Supreme Court in the case of Emma J. McKay vs. Angus McKay. In 1884 the woman obtained a divorce and was given custody of two minor children, but the decree made no provision for their support. Mrs. McKay remarried in 1886, and the children were brought up by her second husband.

The Supreme Court sustained the appeal and reversed the order of the Superior Court, holding that McKay cannot be held responsible or liable for expenses incurred after the divorce was granted.

QUESTION OF COSTS.

Southern Pacific—State Railway Commission Case is Argued.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The matter of assessing the costs of the suit of the Southern Pacific Railway against the State Railway Commission, which was dismissed a few weeks ago, on motion of the railroad and with the consent of the commission, was submitted in the United States Circuit Court this morning.

Before adjournment Attorney Pillsbury argued for the railroad and Attorney Morrow presented the argument for the commission. Judge Morrow will announce a decision in the matter in a few weeks.

Wife of the Santa Clara Senator Secures a Divorce.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Mrs. Adele M. Shortridge was granted a decree of divorce by Judge Murasky from her husband, State Senator Charles M. Shortridge on the ground of desertion. They were married at San Jose in April, 1881, and have two children, respectively, Charles and Adele Vista Shortridge. The plaintiff alleged that her husband deserted her in October, 1887, when he removed from San Jose to reside permanently in this city. The custody of the children was awarded to the plaintiff.

STREET CARS IN KOREA.

Americans Wanted to Operate a New Line at Seoul.

(A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The first street railway in Seoul, the capital of Korea, is nearing completion. H. R. Bestwick, chief engineer of the syndicate which is constructing the road, has sent here for ten to fifteen experienced motormen and several first-class electrical engineers, who are to be sent to Korea immediately. The motormen will be supplied from this city, their wages being fixed at $70 per month.

The motormen are to be engaged from Dawson for Cape Nome are mythical, as news of the strike at that place had not reached Dawson when he left. The latest news from Atlin, brought down on the Al-Ki, states that the open mining season has been postponed from July 15 to July 1. Those who have been working claims are reticent about giving out the results of their work, but it is known that some of the claims are turning out fairly well. Bert Farrar took out several pounds of gold in a day on the Bear Creek.

Fritz Miller, owner of Discovery on Pine Creek, took out $2000 with seven men in two days, and Mr. McCauley took out twenty-five ounces with a rocker in one day from a bench claim he had staked out. Other claims are reported showing up well.

A considerable quantity of wreckage was found west of Sitka, near Cape Edgecombe, June 3, by a Russian hunter. A party left Sitka to bring in the wreckage and ascertain if possible the name of the lost vessel. The wreckage had not been long in the water.

(PHELPS'S FUNERAL.

Prominent Men Attend the Services at San Francisco.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The funeral of the late Timothy Guy Phelps, held today, was attended by a large number of friends and representatives of the organizations with which Mr. Phelps was connected. The Congress of the United States was represented by Senator George C. Perkins; the judiciary by Judge W. W. Morrow; the Pioneers by Louis Sloss and D. J. Staples; the University of California by members of the regents and faculty; and business circles by men with whom Mr. Phelps was associated during his long career in this State.

Rev. Dr. Horatio Stebbins, who officiated at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Phelps thirty years ago, conducted the services. He spoke eloquently of the feeling of the life and character of Mr. Phelps and paid a high tribute to the worth of his public services.

Senator Perkins delivered the eulogy. The remains were consigned to a vault in Cypress Lawn cemetery to await final disposition.

IT WILL NOT ADJOURN BEFORE THE MIDDLE OF JULY.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) SACRAMENTO, June 15.—Possibly there had been a plan to hold up the overland express last night, but if so it was not attempted.

Just before the train left here somebody handed the conductor of a Pullman car one or two black-face masks which he folded and placed in his pocket. The maskers are reported to the railroad officials here, and Detective Ahern left on the train prepared to deal with robbers should any show up.

As the train pulled out of the yards some men tried to board it, but were not successful. This, however, is a frequent occurrence.

Ahern, who came from Auburn at 1 a.m. this morning that nothing had occurred up to that time.

DELEGATES DESIRE TO SEE SOME TANGIBLE RESULT ACCOMPLISHED—DR. ZORN SAYS NOTHING IS LOST THROUGH GERMANY'S ATTITUDE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

THE HAGUE, June 14.—(By Atlantic Cable.) It is now expected that the Peace Conference will not adjourn before the middle of July, as it is thought the labors of the delegates will not be finished before that time, and there is the additional question of the acceptance by the powers of the decisions adopted by the conference.

The delegates who desire to see some tangible result accomplished by the conference recognize that if the members are contented with simply transmitting the decisions to their respective governments, the work of the delegates will simply be pigeon-holed in the various chancelleries of Europe, and will not be executed. Therefore, the delegates have resolved to adjourn the session as soon as their work is completed, or to submit their report to the respective governments, with the request that the delegates be empowered to sign a definite document. It is expected the governments will keep tract of the progress of the work, and that they will require about ten days for deliberation on their final decision, which will bring the final adjournment in the middle of July.

A PRACTICAL RESULT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

THE HAGUE, June 14.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The refusal of Britain to accept the stipulations of the Brussels conference, if they are made definite, will not prevent the other powers from pledging themselves to action in the matter.

There is no doubt that the Brussels conference, which was to make a practical result, but it is proposed that some of the powers, while reserving the right to apply the new stipulations when necessary, may not bind themselves forthwith.

GERMANY'S ATTITUDE.

(A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.)

BERLIN, June 14.—The North German Gazette, referring to the recent declaration of President Zorn of the German delegation to the Peace Conference, respecting Germany's attitude toward the proposal to establish a permanent tribunal, says:

"Prof. Zorn confined himself to saying that the idea of a permanent tribunal, although not without importance, also involves dangers which under certain conditions, were more likely to do harm than good. There is no doubt that the Brussels conference, which was to make a practical result, but it is proposed that some of the powers, while reserving the right to apply the new stipulations when necessary, may not bind themselves forthwith."

NOTHING IS LOST.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

LONDON, June 14.—The correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at The Hague reports an interview he has had with Dr. Zorn of the German delegation, regarding arbitration.

Zorn said that the negotiations in the most friendly spirit. My personal opinion is no way commits Germany, and I share the general hope of finding a favorable solution."

AUGUSTUS' RELUCTANCE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

PARIS, June 14.—President Loubet received M. Poincaré this morning for the purpose of intrusting him with the task of forming a new Cabinet. M. Poincaré asked for time to deliberate, and will give the President a definite report at 6 o'clock this evening.

M. Poincaré had consultation this afternoon with MM. Ribot, Sarrien, M. Poincaré wants him at the Ministry of Marine; and M. Kramm raised difficulties concerning the Dreyfus trial, pointing out that he has done much to discredit the Dreyfus trial, and to bring about the acquittal of the accused.

M. Poincaré is to be seen clear of political troubles.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) NEW YORK, June 14.—Mike Morrissey, the newly arrived Irish heavyweight pugilist who is to meet Peter Maher before the Lenox Athletic Club next Tuesday night, today, through his manager and backer, P. J. Dwyer of Brooklyn, deposited $2500 with George Considine of this city, to bind a match with Jim Jeffries, the present champion.

JEFFRIES IS WILLING.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) HARTFORD, Conn., June 14.—W. A. Brady, manager for Jeffries, was seen tonight in reference to the challenge of Mike Morrissey. Brady said that if Morrissey is in earnest, he will be accommodated. Jeffries is willing to meet Morrissey August 3, in London, if the latter prefers, and not wait until the Sharkey bout is settled.

RULED OFF THE TRACK.

Jockey Burns Makes a Bad Break at Overland Park.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) DENVER, (Colo.) June 14.—At Overland Park the favorites won every race, but Oldham, a 2-to-1 shot, came in an easy winner. The favorite was Lochner, who took second place. Encino was left at the post in this race, whereupon Jockey Burns, who was riding him, climbed into the stand and attacked Starter Updegraff viciously. He was thrown out of the stand by Fred Mulholland, a California horseman, and was later ruled off the track.

SUMMARY OF THE RACES.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) DENVER, June 14.—Results at Overland:

Trotting: Success won in three straight heats; best time 2:144. Mowat's Granite and four others also started.

Pacing: Adise won in straight heats; best 2:124. Peerie McC., Bill Nye and five others started.

THE DEVIL TO PAY.

Warren Stoner Makes a Big Winning at Hawthorne.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) CHICAGO, June 14.—When the Devil won the event at Hawthorne today, Warren Stoner of Mount Sterling, Ky., a friend of Will Woodward, became $14,400 richer. It was the best coup of the local season and caused not a little grumbling, both from the bookmakers and from the horsemen. The Devil was strong in form of the race, and bettors placed quietly, and bookmaker alone taking $40 against $200, and others accepting freely from Stoner's commissioners.

Weather at Hawthorn fair, track good.

One mile: Mallakawa won, Ostra second, Fox third; time 1:12.5; Oono second, Olive Order third; time 1:154.

NORMAN WILLIAMS DYING.

Father-in-law of Gen. Merritt is Passing Away.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) CHICAGO, June 15.—Norman Williams, the well-known Chicago lawyer and capitalist, is at the point of death at his summer home, Little Bearhead, Rye Beach, N. Y. Mr. Williams has been a sufferer from Bright's disease for three years. Since April, when he went to Rye Beach, he has been failing gradually, and advises to friends and relatives in Chicago last week were the effect that he was only occasionally conscious, and his condition was extremely critical. At the residence of Arthur J. Gaton, a brother-in-law of Mr. Williams, it was said that hope of Mr. Williams' recovery had been practically abandoned.

Arthur James' three-year-old b. f. Fascination won the Coronation stakes, $10,000, at the start, and was second. Sloane rode P. Lorillard's ch. f. Myakka, and finished third. Charles D. Rose's Zanetto was second. The betting was 7 to 1 against Myakka.

Six-year-old geldings, two-year-old colts, Year-Victor, with Sloane, finished third for the Fern Hill stakes. Mr. Russell's two-year-old b. f. Emotion was the winner. Sixteen horses ran on the two-year-old course. The betting was 2 to 1 against Year-Victor.

Johnston, P. Lorillard's ch. c. ridden by Sloan, finished third in the race of the triennial stakes. Longy was the winner, and Arthur James' Dun Dun was second. Ten horses ran on the two-year-old course. The betting was 2 to 1 against Johnston.

The Duke of Westminster's Frontier, Jolly Tar, ridden by Sloan, finished second, and W. Low's Mark Forard third. Six horses started on the Swinley course. The betting was 13 to 8 against Jolly Tar.

FAVORITES BEATEN.

Four of Them Downed at Gravesend—The Myrtle Stakes.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) NEW YORK, June 14.—Contingent was a hot favorite for the Myrtle stakes at Gravesend today, and was the fourth favorite to go down, for the best he could do was third. He set a hot pace at the start, but at the last furlong Merry Prince came with a rush and won. Results:

Six furlongs: Gaze won, Rhinelander second, Swiftmias third; time 1:14.

One and one-eighth miles: Imp won, Peat second, Warrenton third; time 1:53.

Five and one-half furlongs: Guiden won, the Corinthian second, Creeper third; time 1:08.

Myrtle stakes, one and one-sixteenth miles: Merry Prince won, Charenteus second, Corinthian third; time 1:08.

Five furlongs: Mark Cheek won, Bansborough second, Eileen Daly third; time 1:03.

One and one-sixteenth miles: Peat won, Holden second, Ed. Tipton third; time 1:49.

RESULTS AT ST. LOUIS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) ST. LOUIS, June 14.—The track was fast. Results:

Five furlongs: May Tavis won, Annis Palmer second, Tizzolini third; time 1:04.

Six furlongs: Harrie Floyd won, A. J. Murphy second, Mount City third; time 1:15.

One mile: Rafaello won, Fontainebleau second, Imp. Mint. Sauce third; time 1:42.

One and one-sixteenth miles: Orie-

II won. Rebel Jack second, Lady Calahan third; time 1:48.

Six furlongs: Tulla Fonso won, Kensington second, Banish, third; time 1:44.

Six furlongs: Wiggins won, Chiffon second, Bell Punch third; time 1:15.

FAST TIME AT LATONIA.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) CINCINNATI, June 14.—George Kratz ran the fastest six and a half furlongs of the meeting today in the handicaps, covering the distance in 1:04. The racing was exciting throughout. J. C. Milan bought Full Dress from J. D. Smith for $400 just before the last race, which Full Dress won very handily. Weather cloudy. Results:

Six furlongs: Malahie won, Norma Taylor second, Critt third; time 1:16.

Five furlongs: Villa V. won, Oleka second, Isabinda third; time 1:02.

One mile, selling: Periwig won, Olah H. Second, Donation third; time 1:42.

Six and one-half furlongs, handicap: George Kratz won, L. E. Lee third; time 1:21.

Five furlongs: Lew Kraft won, Barney F. second, Burl third; time 1:02.

Six furlongs, selling: Full Dress won, April's Lady second, The Slugger third; time 1:15.

CUP DEFENDERS.

Stepping of the Columbia's Masts Successfully Accomplished.

(A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.) BRISTOL, (K. L.) June 14.—The work of stepping the masts of the Columbia has been successfully accomplished and the force of riggers have begun their work.

The Defender has been pulled out on the ways from where the Columbia was launched.

The Oregon pine mast of the Columbia is not as large, but is more graceful than the steel mast of the Defender, and appears to be fully four feet taller than the latter. Work progresses rapidly on the Columbia and there is no reason to doubt that she will be ready or her first trial trip on Saturday.

COLONELS SHUT OUT.

Pitcher Powell Kept Them Guessing.

The Day's Scores.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 14.—Powell had the Colonels guessing today, and they were shut out. Attendance 250.

Score:

Louisville, 0; base hits, 6; errors, 1. St. Louis, 2; base hits, 5; errors, 0. Batteries—Philipp and Kittredge; Powell and Criger.

Umpires—Ensle and McDonald.

BEANEATERS' NARROW MARGIN.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) NEW YORK, June 14.—The Boston won the concluding game of the series by a narrow margin. Errors and bad judgment lost the game for the New Yorks. Attendance 1000. Score:

New York, 4; base hits, 6; errors, 3. Boston, 5; base hits, 9; errors, 3. Batteries—McKin and Warner; Killen and Bergen.

Umpires—Lynch and Connolly.

Pretty Pitcher's Battle.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) CHICAGO, June 14.—For seven evenings today's game was a pretty pitcher's battle, neither side getting more than an occasional hit. A wild pitch and a long outfield fly in the tenth gave Cincinnati the run. Attendance 2600. Score:

Cincinnati, 2; base hits, 6; errors, 1. Batteries—Taylor and Chance; Phillips and Vaughn.

Umpires—Swartwood and Warner.

SPIDERS NOT IN IT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) CLEVELAND, June 14.—The home team was never in the game with Lord Beresford today. The attendance was 1,000.

Cleveland: 1; base hits, 6; errors, 1. Pittsburgh, 10; base hits, 16; errors, 1. Batteries—Maupin, Bates and Schreckengost; Tannehill and Bowerman.

Umpires—Gaffney.

A SLOW GAME.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) WASHINGTON, June 14.—Baltimore won a slow game today. Attendance 1,000.

Washington, 3; hits, 9; errors, 2. Baltimore, 9; hits, 11; errors, 2. Batteries—Dinen, Baker and McGuire; Nopes and Chrisham. Umpires—O'Day and McGarr.

THE DEVIL TO PAY.

Warren Stoner Makes a Big Winning at Hawthorne.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) CHICAGO, June 14.—When the Devil won the event at Hawthorne today, Warren Stoner of Mount Sterling, Ky., a friend of Will Woodward, became $14,400 richer. It was the best coup of the local season and caused not a little grumbling, both from the bookmakers and from the horsemen. The Devil was strong in form of the race, and bettors placed quietly, and bookmaker alone taking $40 against $200, and others accepting freely from Stoner's commissioners.

Weather at Hawthorn fair, track good.

One mile: Mallakawa won, Ostra second, Fox third; time 1:12.

Mile and one-eighth: Al Freco third; time 1:35.

Seven furlongs: Al Freco won, Jack Hayes second, Del Coronado third; time 2:41.

Seven furlongs: Theresa H. won, Defender second, Aspinett third; time 1:32.

Seven furlongs: Del Coronado, winning, seven furlongs, second, Danholt won, Ivan third, Charmante third; time 1:28.

St. John's Episcopal Church, corner of Figueroa and Adams street, was made unusually attractive yesterday upon the occasion of the marriage of Miss Margaret Constance Mather, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mather, of No. 107 West Thirtieth street, to Dr. George Henry Richardson of San Francisco. The ceremony took place at high noon in the presence of a large number of friends. Rev. E. W. R. Taylor, rector of the church, officiated. The church was made very beautiful with flowers and palms, tropical foliage and graceful wreaths of vines. The altar was banked with green and white, and the chandeliers were hung with graceful fountains of ivy. Great trees of Easter lilies stood at either side of the chancel steps. The decorations were exceptionally attractive and beautiful, and the wedding was one of the prettiest of the season. The bride wore a gown of heavy cotton silk, with a wide sash, made on train and was ornamented with cascades of chiffon, falling in graceful folds from waist to hem. The waist was even more elaborate, made with a full vest of soft Liberty silk, edged with chiffon. Her long tulle veil was held with brooches and she carried an exquisite bouquet of bride roses, tied with broad white satin ribbon streamers. The bride was given away by her father, and Miss Bessie Richardson, sister of the groom, assisted as maid of honor. She wore a white lace dress, with a wide sash of white silk, trimmed with ribbons and lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, tied with white satin ribbons, and wore a large leghorn hat, trimmed with ostrich feathers. Fred Richardson, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were: Dr. A. Stanley Dolan, of the Southern California State Hospital; Messrs. A. C. Desenzor, Melville C. Wilkinson and Warren B. Mather. The full choir service was stilled out, and the organ music of Prof. Waldo M. Chase, leader of the choir. As the bridal party entered the church the "Wedding March" from "Loehengrin" was played, and during the ceremony the choir sang softly the "Vow of the Bridesmen over Eden." The benediction was taken at the conclusion, followed by the regular Episcopal communion at the altar. At the close of the marriage service an elaborate meal was served at the home of the bride's parents, to which a reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Richardson. The decorations were suspended from the ceiling, with broad bands of pink satin ribbons, and the mantel and buffet were massed with sweet peas and tropical foliage. The table was lighted with silver candelabra, shaded with cyano, completing the effective scene. The bride's gown was a costly combination of pearl white silk, with an overdraped of Paris mill. The skirt was made with a long train, finished with a flounce of silk chiffon. The waist was also covered with a point-lace fabric. The tulle veil was held in place by a handkerchief, given as a gift from her father, who had presented it to the bride's mother when she herself was a bride. The bouquet was of Bride roses and ferns, tied with broad white satin ribbons. Little Elizabeth Burnett, the bride's niece, acted as flower girl, and preceded the bridal party. She carried a basket of pink sweet peas, carelessly dropping the petals on her way. She wore a gown of white organdie, trimmed with cyano ribbons and lace. W. S. Burnett was best man, and the bride was given away by her father. During the ceremony, which was very beautiful and impressive, a double quartette sang "United Hearts" by Frank Bendel. Prof. Thomas Wilde officiated at the piano, and the singers were: Mrs. Sheldon Brown, Mrs. R. H. Warner, Misses Emma Graves, Fannie Lockhart, Florence Oliver and Lillie Harnischfeger. An elaborate dinner followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Turner, for an extended eastward visit. The wedding guests were exceptionally beautiful, and included among them some of the handsomest ever received by a Los Angeles bride. The bride is well and favorably known in the city, having had her number of years, and is a society favorite. Both those already mentioned there were at the wedding the following-named: Mr. and Mrs. Shirley P. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Courtney, Mr. and Mrs. Manley Turner, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Turner, Mmes. Lucia Burnett, Sarah Conran, Clara Carpenter, Carolyn Hunton, Beatrice Chandler, Messrs. George Baldwin, Ray Smith, Charlie Turner, Sheldon Border. . .

The Story Teller.
In eastern countries, in place of our story-writers, they have professional story-tellers. It is their art to interest their listeners with tales of love, and marvelous adventures, and hair-brush escapes, and such. Their stories of wonderfull medicine that has made thousands of cures that seemed almost magical, which every woman should read or hear. To have heard it or to read it, may save a woman her own life or that of her husband. The medicine used is that of Dr. R. Pierce, a eminent and skillful specialist, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the great Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes the appetite strong, the liver active, the blood pure and rich, the nerves steady, the brain clear and the body strong. It is the great blood-maker and dash-builder. It cures 99 per cent. of all cases of consumption and diseases of the air-passages. It cures all diseases of the heart, and has been used for overworked men and women. A woman may save her husband's life by keeping a bottle in the house, and getting him to resort to it when he feels out-of-sorts. All men are heedless about their health. Medicines stand useless to them. Dr. Pierce's reputation is world-wide, and his fellow townsmen, of Buffalo, N. Y., think so highly of him that they made him their representative in Congress, but his great love for his profession caused him to resign that honorable position that he might devote the remainder of his life to the relief and cure of the sick.

Another good thing to have in the house is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pelets. They cure biliousness and constipation and never gripe.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Mrs. Herbert R. Yerxa and J. M. Neeland returned yesterday evening from a two weeks' trip to Mexico. They expect to return again the first of July. Mrs. E. P. Clark left yesterday for San Francisco for an extended visit with friends and relatives. Mrs. Max Babcock entertained a few friends informally at her parents' home yesterday evening at the house of Dr. and Mrs. Babcock of South Alvarado street.

Mrs. E. A. Pardee and Mrs. A. E. Hill were at home to friends yesterday afternoon at their home on Seventeenth street.

The women of Epiphany Church will hold a lawn social this evening at the residence of Mrs. A. Wilson, corner Downey avenue and Sichel street. J. S. Pardee and C. A. Mathewson of that city have gone to Mexico for an extended trip.

C. L. Smythe has returned from the East.

Miss Irene Hazard of San Diego is the guest of Miss Alles, No. 1252 Westlake avenue, for a few days.

VIII.—THE MOORS IN SPAIN.

BY EDWIN A. GROSVENOR, M.A.

The term "Moors" commonly indicates the Moors, of whatever origin, who occupied parts of Spain during the Middle Ages.

They had reached its furthest limit and began to recede. But the ebb was almost imperceptible, because so slow.

The Moors felt no desire to abandon themselves. The Moors, transmuted from the Omeyade dynasty from Medina to Damascus, and upon which all Moors were supposed to depend, was rent by factions. The Omeyades were themselves massacred by the Abbasids, a rival house. Only one Omeyade escaped, that of Alfonso. After romantic wanderings he reached Cordova in 755, was accepted by the Moors in Spain as their rightful sovereign, and took the title of Emir-al-Moumenin, or Chief of the Believers, and the capital of Cordova.

Guadalete was the capital of the Moors, and the Moors had been converted to Christianity, and outwardly they conducted their lives as far as possible secretly observing all their ancient rites. Even this did not satisfy their intolerant masters.

In 1099 Philip II ordered every Moors to quit the kingdom. This command was enforced with merciless severity.

Probably a million human beings, most of them peaceful and industrious, were driven into a cruel exile. Whatever calamities their remote ancestors had brought upon the peninsula to their descendants could be impuned to crime except their birth.

It is common to exalt the excellence of Moorish government and to enlarge upon the treasures of art which they had accumulated and of science and literature which they developed. Nor SAYER'S SCHEME.

Gov. Sayers of Texas has issued an invitation to the Governors and Attorneys-General of all the States and Territories to meet at St. Louis, Mo., on September 20, in a conference to be held for the purpose of discussing the trust problem in all its bearings. Gov. Sayers believes that one of the surest and most practical methods of dealing with trusts is the enactment, by the Legislatures of the several States, of uniform anti-trust laws. The general purpose of the proposed assemblage at St. Louis, as Gov. Sayers defines it, is "to consider the effect which the formation of trusts is having upon the country, and, if possible, to agree upon a character of legislation which will not only force those now existing into dissolution, but will also prevent their further creation."

The Governor of Texas appears to be very much in earnest, and to the extent that he is so, his proposition is entitled to public approbation; for the trust problem is certainly one of transcendent importance, and all honest efforts to arrive at definite conclusions as to its exact status, and all sincere suggestions as to ways and means for mitigating, preventing, or neutralizing the evils growing out of it, are worthy of patient attention.

Whether the conference of Governors and Attorneys-General proposed by Gov. Sayers will, if held, result in any practical good is a question which can be answered only in the future. It may serve as the nucleus of a practical movement which will result in the solution of the grave questions presented, or it may result in nothing more than talk. At all events the movement, assuming the sincerity of its proponent—and this means its freedom from political influences—is entitled to respectful consideration.

It has become clearly apparent that both good and bad results are to follow in the wake of this modern industrial institution, the trust. Whether the good will outweigh the evil, or vice versa, is a debatable question, though the preponderance of testimony, up to the present time, clearly tends to show that the bad results will outweigh the good ones. If this view be confirmed by subsequent and conclusive testimony, some method should, must, and will be found, to destroy the trusts or to neutralize their evil effects and influences.

If the trusts are to be destroyed, one of the most effective steps toward the attainment of that end, it is plain, would be a uniform system of State legislation. Gov. Sayers is perhaps too sanguine when he declares in substance that if twenty States can be induced to adopt identical policies in reference to this generally admitted evil; and will enforce these policies with firmness, impartiality, and vigor, relief will surely and quickly follow. But there can be no doubt whatever that concerted action on the part of twenty or more States would constitute a potent, if not an absolutely effective, influence in the regulating of trusts, and in reducing to a minimum the evil effects of their exploitation.

There is not much to be said in favor of the blind, unreasoning, and sweeping condemnation of trusts, in which political demagogues habitually indulge, for political effect. There is much to be said, however, in favor of any plan which proposes to consider these organizations in a spirit of rational deliberation, and to devise, if possible, remedies for the acknowledged evils growing out of them. For this reason, among others, the plan suggested by the Governor of Texas is entitled to careful consideration and a fair trial.

A couple who have sparked for sixty years just been married in Vermont. How slow is the effect! Out here those things are frequently brought to a head in less than minutes.

POLICEMEN AND POLITICS.

Some of the members of the Los Angeles police force seem to think that they are overworked, a belief which is not shared by a large number of citizens not on the force. An effort is being made to have the City Council apply the eight-hour law to policemen, as well as laborers, in the employ of the municipality. It has been shown that the State law regulating the duration of a day's work does not apply to the police force of a city, but the kickers have managed to dig up an old city ordinance which is said to cover the point at issue.

If these discontented policemen take the advice of THE TIMES, they will lay very low, and cease to talk about imaginary grievances, or they may wake up one morning and find that the city is able to get along without their services altogether. The fact is, that policemen in Los Angeles are better paid, and do less work, than in any other important city of the United States. After deducting the time taken for meals, some of these men do not actually put in more than six hours a day, for which they receive $1000 a year. The work is by no means onerous, and as wages go nowadays, the pay is good. These men seem to forget that there has been a marked drop in the price of labor, as well as of other things, during the past ten years. Gauged by what it will purchase, $1000 a year in Los Angeles today is fully equal to $1500 a year twelve years ago. There are hundreds, if not thousands, of competent men in this city who would be willing and thankful to accept the positions which some of the Los Angeles policemen do not appear to appreciate.

New Orleans the policemen are paid $600 a year, notwithstanding which much is expected of them. According to the provisions of the New Orleans police bill, a policeman "must be of good moral character, able to read and write the English language understandingly, be over five feet eight inches in height, courageous in the discharge of duty, stand civilian service examination, be sound in wind and limb, body and mind, polite and attentive to everybody, pay for two uniforms a year, stand abuse without resentment, and above all things be honest."

One thing is certain: Should the Council decide to yield to the solicitations of these men, and strictly enforce the eight-hour law, then it will be necessary to reduce the salaries of the policemen and put on "extras," as the force at present is altogether inadequate for the large territory which the police have to cover, a territory that has been greatly increased during the past few years by the annexation of outside districts.

As the editor of the Iowa State Register sits in the dim recesses of his cave and waits the passing of the twister of the air which is scattering his friends and neighbors over the adjoining townships, counties and States, let him pray that his heart may be freed of jealousy of this favored State of the Golden West, and that nothing more serious than a California earthquake may ever take a whack at the town of Des Moines.

THE COMING CONVENTION.

From recent reports received at the headquarters of the National Educational Convention in this city, it appears probable that the number of visitors whom Los Angeles will be called upon to entertain next month will fall little short of 20,000, even if it does not reach that figure.

This will be, in several respects, the most important gathering that has ever met in Los Angeles. It is not only the numerical strength of the convention, but the character of the delegates which we should consider. These teachers are people of exceptional intelligence, who come in direct contact every day with hundreds of thousands of boys and girls, young men and women, who from them, in many cases, receive their first impressions of Southern California. It should not be necessary to urge upon our citizens the great importance of properly entertaining and making a good impression upon our guests. Los Angeles cannot afford to go back on its record for liberality and open-hearted generosity on such occasions.

The direct financial profits to the city through the gathering will be received from the convention. Every dollar that we spend will be returned to us a hundredfold.

The Committee on Arrangements has received a large batch of artistic N.E.A. buttons. It has been suggested that an appreciable addition to the subscription list might be added by selling these buttons to the public, in which manner citizens would have a chance to contribute their mites to a good cause!

The time is short; prompt action is essential.

We greatly fear that the change from buying a house for Admiral Dewey to erecting a home for soldiers and sailors will cause the cause to sag, though it hadn't ought to. We cannot honor the great commander in a more graceful manner than by carrying out his unselfish and patriotic suggestion. Therefore, let those who propose to give to the Dewey Home Fund twice as much to the Dewey Home for Soldiers and Sailors.

It is now claimed that tight hats are harmful because they obstruct the flow of thought. We would respectfully suggest that Ed. Atkinson be compelled to wear a No. 4 size for the remainder of his natural life. Ed needs to be obstructed—in fact, think tank.

The proposition to amend the present bicycle ordinance is not objected to by the discreet and sensible wheelman, for he is more in danger from the reckless rush of the scorchers than is the pedestrian, but he will object to the ordinance if the "rule of the road" and other requirements are not made to apply to all vehicles. While the swift rider on a bicycle is a menace to public safety, the Chinese vegetable man who drives on the wrong side of the street, the milk man who speeds his "genuine Mexican plugs" at twenty miles per hour, and the woman driver who wobbles in her driving from one curb to another, as well as many other horse-drivers, should be given their due share of attention in the new ordinance, for they are far more to be feared than an army with banners, Gatling guns and Colt's revolvers. By all means let us have a "rule of the road" and let it be enforced against all vehicles alike.

MERCANTILE MORALITY.

They still entertain many simple Arcadian ideas in Europe. A letter from Switzerland tells how a woman in that country who bought 5000 pairs of cheap shoes, advertised them to be sold "cheaper than the same articles could be sold by anyone else," whereupon she was at once taxed $150 by the commune and $100 by the State for permission to sell the shoes during one month. The woman complained, and the police wrote to the government, as follows:

"If this woman buys cheaply and advertises to sell cheaper than any one else, she must make money. There is no reason why she should not pay this tax, because she can afford it, to say the least."

This is charmingly naive to Americans who are so accustomed to a free and easy way of doing business. It is not at all likely—and perhaps not desirable—that we should introduce any such close supervision of commercial methods in this country, but it would certainly not do any harm if there were some little restriction upon the methods adopted by retailers to attract custom. Announcements of "sheriff sales," "closing-out sales," "fire sales," and other similar devices have become so common that they have, to a great extent, lost their drawing value, and dealers are driven to their wits' ends to devise new schemes to whet the appetite of the purchasing public, all of which tends to the demoralization of legitimate business.

Perhaps after things come to the worst in this direction—which apparently must soon be—they will begin to mend, and we shall see a revolution in favor of the old-fashion plan, where the merchant depended upon his reputation for selling a good article at a fair price, rather than upon the announcement of impossible bargains.

A Kansas editor, one Henry Black of Syracuse, has started up a woman-trouser movement in that State. He appeals to the sex to turn from fashion, and during windy weather wear divided skirts, or, better still, trousers of their brothers' or husbands. This is certainly a sad state of affairs.

So far as this eight-hour talk goes, would any disinterested man of sense advocate the enforcement of such a rule in and out of season? Would he have a policeman quit his detail in the midst of a mob, a riot or a fire merely because his eight hours were up?

There is no doubt that the police force of Los Angeles would be improved by a thorough and judicious weeding-out process. While the force includes many good and capable men, who would be a credit to the police force of any city, there are also in the ranks a number of useless drones, who have obtained their positions through some kind of a pull with the Council or Police Commission, and who openly boast of the fact that they do not have to depend on the favor or approval of their chief officer. It is from these men that most of the complaints emanate, and the result is naturally to keep the force in a constant ferment of agitation and discontent, much to the prejudice of good discipline. Instead of listening to the stories and complaints of these men, the Police Commission should sit down upon them and sit hard. Citizens of Los Angeles expect a well-organized and well-disciplined police force, for which they pay out a large amount of good money. They have a right to expect this. So far as the Chief of Police is concerned, he has been doing his best to give to the city such a force. What can he do, however, when he has in his ranks men who openly boast that they are not subject to his control, and when such men are aided and abetted by those whose duty it should be to promptly discharge them for insubordination? What sort of discipline should we expect to prevail in a regiment where the subordinate officers boasted that they had a pull with the War Department and did not have to pay much attention to the orders of the commanding officer?

Citizens of Los Angeles understand this condition of affairs very well. They appreciate the difficulties under which the Chief of Police labors, They know that a majority of the Police Board and of the City Council are responsible for this condition of affairs. Those officials cannot successfully shirk the responsibility. The Board of Education proposes to have a weeding-out of the teachers. It is about time that there should also be a weeding-out of the police force. The taxpayers have a right to expect that the Council and the Police Board will do their duty in this respect. It is true that, by doing so, they may lose a few votes at the next municipal election, but they are certain to lose a great many more by following the opposite course, and playing into the hands of ward politicians. The police department should be as independent of politics as is the army. Unfortunately, however, the police departments of American cities, like the fire departments, are too often the storm centers of petty political scheming.

Now that fighting is going on in the province of Cavite, the boys of Battery D, California Artillery, under Capt. Steere, are doubtless in a bluff and a scarecrow the torpedo boat is all right, but that, except under the most extraordinary conditions it is but little else. We all remember what a tremor the country had when the announcement was made that the Spanish torpedo fleet had sailed westward from the Cape Verde Islands, and the movement of such a fleet in the future will not even be able to give hysterical Boston a moment's alarm.

The government has been experimenting with the torpedo fleet at Newport, but, since the war with Spain popular interest in torpedo boats has gone down a good many points. The way in which those crafts were demolished by our men of the navy in West Indian waters demonstrated that as a bluff and a scarecrow the torpedo boat is all right, but that, except under the most extraordinary conditions it is but little else. We all remember what a tremor the country had when the announcement was made that the Spanish torpedo fleet had sailed westward from the Cape Verde Islands, and the movement of such a fleet in the future will not even be able to give hysterical Boston a moment's alarm.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

The Santa Cruz Sentinel tells of a young man who left Soquel and went to war, being engaged in the battles in Luzon, and of his return and immediate resumption of everyday common farm labor. It required a patriot to fight in Luzon, but a true hero to sturdily resume the arts of peace and set so high a mark for thousands of others to copy when they shall return from the front.

President Ferguson of Pomona College deserves hearty support in his endeavor to raise $50,000 as an addition to the present endowment fund. The college has grown and strengthened healthily of late and promises to become a potent factor of the intellectual and social advancement of the State. The college is founded on liberal lines and is full of the spirit of growth.

Visalia had three pretty contestants for Goddess of Liberty on the approaching Fourth of July. In the interests of harmony and patriotism all three of the strikingly beautiful creatures were elected, and all three will parade. To make it a red-letter day for the triune goddess the committee allowed each one of her $10 for a new gown. The gigantic intellect that wrought this unique result will never die bald headed.

That a new country creates new conditions is seen in the cry of the Albuquerque Journal-Democrat, for "a new house to be built with a special view to the accommodation of the invalid trade." The climate of that beautiful section is so beneficial to ailing humanity that it is found difficult to keep up with the demand for serviceable hotel accommodations. In wishing Albuquerque prosperity along this line we do not love humanity the less, but our enterprising neighbor does.

The Oakland Tribune comes on deck with "The Man With the Ax," and tells of bloody deeds and attempted awful midnight murders and assassinations, wherein the demon is a man with an ax. The police force is roared and basted, and held responsible for all these things. Now, what can be the matter in Oakland? While "The Man With the Hoe" can be relegated to the limbo of idle discussion, his prototype with the ax raises the awful suspicion that a shaking up in the City Hall there is a crying need. Poor Oakland! Happy Los Angeles!

The eighth commencement exercises of Throop Polytechnic Institute at Pasadena take place tonight, and a deep and wide interest centers therein. The opening of this institute marked a distinct epoch in the educational annals of Southern California, and its record is one of growing usefulness as the years pass and occasions demand. Tonight turns out the fifth class of graduates, and finds this thoroughly up-to-date institution better equipped and better situated than ever for its valuable work. Close upon a hundred young men and women now leave the mental mass of the body politic in Southern California who owe their acquirements to Throop.

All things come to him who waits, and so Los Angeles is to have a gap of her very own. From Oxnard to Chatsworth is the ground to be covered, cutting out the Saugus Newhall tunnel route, and saving much distance as well as tapping new territory. This step has been exploited for years, and has been earnestly longed for by the people of contiguous territory. The line is now being built from Oxnard to Simi to foster the beet-sugar industry, thus making rural Simi an objective point and name in the public eye as pastoral Ellwood has been for a decade. That the cases may be parallel in no other feature is the fervent wish of the people of this section.

TWO STORIES OF A LOT.

ONE OF THEM NOT SUPPORTED BY FACTS OF RECORD.

Protests Against the Payment of $2400 for an Engine-house Site, Assessed at $200. Were Ignored by the Council and Apparently Forgotten by Mr. Toll.

In a letter to The Times, published June 5, 1899, Councilman Charles H. Toll of the Fifth Ward undertook to defend the purchase by the city of an engine-house site on Jefferson and McClinton streets for $2400, the assessed value of the lot being only $200 and the appraised value, set by experts, ranging from $600 to $1000. Mr. Toll said in his letter: "Several lots were offered in the district in question, but among those worthy of consideration vigorous protests were waged on the part of residents, except in the case of this lot. Toward this lot all favorable considerations seemed to tend."

He also said in conversation on the subject that there were no protests against the purchase, except one filed by Dan Neuhart, who had a lot for sale.

Mr. Toll's memory was defective.

On December 27, 1898, the following was filed with the City Clerk and presented to the Council:

FREE DELIVERY EXTENSION.

Five Additional Mail Carriers Will Soon Be Employed.

Five mail carriers will be added to the local force July 1, and nearly six thousand persons who have heretofore been compelled to go to the office for their mail will be served at their homes by the carriers. The free-delivery district will be enlarged, taking in considerable outlying property, and many persons who now receive only one delivery a day will have two.

Some of the additional help will be put in the congested business district, which are not being served at present, and a force of small men will do the work thoroughly.

The addition of the new carriers will necessitate a redistricting of the city, and many routes will be changed. The men who will be given the positions are five of the nine substitutes who are now engaged in filling the places, the carriers whom are absent. The five oldest substitutes, in point of service, will be chosen.

Posto ce Inspector M. H. Flint, assisted by Congressman W. S. Waters, secreted the new carriers for the city after considerable discussion by mail with the department at Washington.

CITY ATTORNEY'S OPINION AS TO CITY BOND ISSUES.

Danger of Defeating Municipal Ownership of Water Pointed Out—Mayor Eaton Calls a Mass Meeting.

Miss Fisk Chooses Sunday Morning, Just at Sunrise, to Make Collections—Charged With Peace Disturbance.

Some Interesting Decisions Handed Down from the Superior Court. Mrs. Peasee Tells of Her Friendship for Bethel.

City Attorney Haas will advise the City Council on Monday that to proceed with the election for school improvement bonds would greatly complicate the efforts of the city to secure a water system. He has given out the opinion that while the courts might ultimately decide in favor of the city it is now hazardous to increase the bonded indebtedness of the city to more than the charter limit of $2,000,000. He thinks the proposed bonds for a lighting system could safely be voted but that the proposed school bonds would bring the bonds of the city to above the limit.

A strenuous effort is being made to have the City Council again advertise for bids for the construction of twelve new engine-houses. Two calls for bids have been made, the result being that the lowest price in the second bidding was more than $3000 higher than before. The bids will be considered tomorrow afternoon at a joint meeting of the Board of Public Works and the Board of Fire Commissioners.

Mayor Eaton has called a mass meeting of citizens to day at the City Hall for the purpose of making plans for the proper celebration of the Fourth of July.

The Board of Fire Commissioners has refused to accept a benefit picnic for the department on the ground that the members can better be used for private enterprises of that kind.

Miss Louisa Fisk, a maiden lady, was tried before Justice James yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace. The complaining witness was Miss C. A. Holst, who stated that she had written to her husband that another woman who tested that Miss Fisk came to her house at an unreasonable hour in the morning to make a collection of money alleged to be due. When the woman was unable to get in, she proceeded to break the door and windows and made several communications.

The Bethel adultery case was before Judge Smith all day yesterday and will probably conclude today. Mrs. Peasee, Bethel's alleged paramour, tells an interesting story.

COMPLICATIONS FEARED.

CITY ATTORNEY COUNSELS CAUTION IN MAKING BOND ISSUES.

Proposed School Bonds Cannot Be Issued Without Possibly Causing More Water Litigation—Mass Meeting Called—Another Call for Engine-house Bids Demanded.

A knock-out blow against the voting of school bonds, has been delivered by City Attorney Walter Haas. The city must choose, he says, between making ownership of the water plant impossible for many years to come, and deferring the voting of school bonds for a little while, until the water bonds can have been voted and sold.

The bonds for an electric distributing system can be voted at once, says Mr. Haas, without endangering municipal ownership.

To vote the school bonds now, according to Mr. Haas, would furnish the water company a pretext against municipal ownership which would tie up that enterprise in the courts for many years to come. A little delay will give the city both a water plant and improved ownership.

The danger lurks in the ambiguity of the word "or" in the provision of the charter respecting municipal indebtedness. Bonds may not necessarily be abandoned, as the act does not require that the elections shall be called immediately after the expiration of the two weeks publication of these preliminary ordinances. Under no circumstances would I favor any proposal which might endanger the bonds to be voted for the acquisition of a water plant, as I consider this of paramount importance. In addition, it might be said that it is not entirely clear that the city is not under obligation to pay the award heretofore made, and that for that reason extreme care should be taken, not to complicate the situation.

MASS MEETING CALLED.

Preparations to Be Made to Celebrate the Fourth.

Mayor Eaton has called a mass meeting of citizens interested in the observance of the Fourth of July, to be held at the City Hall Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. At this meeting committees will be appointed to make such arrangements as are necessary for some sort of celebration of the day. No definite plans have been arranged, although some general suggestion have been made. Whether or not the voting of the school bonds, ought to be deferred until after the water bonds, and preferably until after the water bonds are sold, thereby eliminating any possible difficulty that might arise."

NOT LACKING IN FAITH.

Fender Inventor Wants a Street Car to Strike Him.

J. P. Clark of Oakland has addressed a letter to the City Council in which he refers to the proposed ordinance requiring street car companies to equip their cars with fenders for the protection of pedestrians. In that proposed ordinance it is provided that one of three kinds of fenders shall be used. It is to this that Clark objects, for he is the inventor of a fender, which he asserts is superior to any of those mentioned in the ordinance. He says his invention is in use in several cities in the State. He is much afraid that they will be unwilling to bring one of his fenders to this city for a test, and willing to stand or lie on the track and let a car equipped with one of them run into him.

PICNIC NOT FAVORED.

Fire Commission Decides Against Firemen's Benefit.

The Board of Fire Commissioners yesterday decided not to lend the name of the fire department to the assistance of an alleged benefit picnic to be given by the Chowder Club. In its application the club offered to give a prize to the most popular member of the department, the contest to be by voting, at, of course, so much per vote. It also offered to donate one-half of the gate receipts at its picnic to the firemen.

The defense will close this morning, when Luther A. Bethel will be put upon the stand to testify in his own behalf.

The morning yesterday was taken up in listening to the testimony of Detective Paul Flammer, who placed Bethel under arrest at the Coleman rooming-house on Hill street last February; also of Mrs. Holst, who conducted a restaurant on Hill street, at the point is made that the city can exceed the $2,000,000 limit only for either a sewer or a water system, but not for both. Having exceeded the $2,000,000 limit by voting $2,000,000 worth of school bonds and $160,000 worth of lighting bonds, there would be an excess of $178,125 over the $2,000,000 limit, which would be chargeable to sewer bonds. The contention is made that any further amount is necessary would be voted for sewer bonds, but not for water bonds; that the city would exhaust its power to vote bonds in excess of the $2,000,000 by having voted sewer bonds, and that it would thereby have exercised its option to vote either sewer bonds or water bonds. An election for the voting of school bonds might be enjoined in that event by any taxpayer on the ground that the sum of $12,010. The fire at which the greatest loss occurred was that which destroyed the residence of Homer Rice on New Main street Saturday afternoon. The chief also reported the usual fire alarm, which is given weekly for the purpose of increasing the proficiency of the firemen, especially those connected with the hook and ladder companies.

WANT ANOTHER CHANCE.

Effort to Make Council Readvertise for Engine-houses.

Although the Council has twice advertised for bids for the construction of the twelve engine houses provided for in the Fire Department bond issue and in spite of the fact that the second call for bids resulted in a difference of $3000 against the city as compared with the first, the Council has again called for bids, because they alone, if added to the present total bonded indebtedness of $16,125, would bring the total to above the $2,000,000 limit by $18,125. By voting now both the lighting bonds and the school bonds, the total would be brought greatly in excess of the charter limit of $2,000,000.

On the other hand it is claimed that the $16,000 worth of lighting bonds could be voted without exceeding the $2,000,000 limit, and therefore the city would not thereby be endangered in its acquisition of a water plant. The same thing, however, would not be true of the $420,000 worth of school bonds, because they alone, if added to the present total bonded indebtedness of $16,125, would bring the total to above the $2,000,000 limit by $18,125. By voting now both the lighting bonds and the school bonds, the total would be brought greatly in excess of the charter limit of $2,000,000.

There is no provision in the charter which would be considered "and" by the courts, for a number of reasons. One is that both a sewer system and a water system are essential to the welfare of a growing city. Secondly, while the charter was framed by the freeholders, they must have had in mind that the city was under a contract obligation to take the water system off the hands of the Los Angeles City Water Company at the expiration of the contract and to pay for the improvements. They must also have taken into consideration the fact that under the probable growth of the city a very large bond issue would be necessary. These facts must likewise have been known to the members of the Legislature when they composed the present charter. The courts will ordinarily give a construction to statutes of this kind which will best serve the purposes for which they are framed. However, there is a mooted question and no one can be certain in advance of the outcome of the case, whether the proposed bonds for a lighting system could safely be voted but that the proposed school bonds would bring the bonds of the city to above the limit.

"Should the court of last resort determine that the city of Los Angeles having voted the $160,000 worth of lighting bonds and the $420,000 worth of school bonds, and thereby having exceeded the $2,000,000 had exercised its option to vote either sewer or water bonds, and therefore have no power to vote water bonds, it would leave the city in a most perilous condition and would practically be the death knell of the municipal ownership of water plant. Even should a court ultimately decide that the city has a right to vote bonds in excess of the $2,000,000 limit, still it would leave an open question upon which litigation might be founded and cause a delay of years in the consummation of a scheme of municipal ownership. Therefore I would desire it advisable to postpone the voting upon the question of municipal lighting and end school improvements until after the water bonds have been voted by the people and sold. By doing this, all danger of any litigation to prohibit the voting of water bonds would be diverted and a possible decision and judgment will follow upon the conclusion of the present action.

HANCHETT'S CRIME.PUT A BULLET THROUGH HIS YOUNG WIFE'S HEART.

The Shocking Tragedy. Enacted Early Yesterday Morning at the Columbia Lodging-house on South Broadway.

Murderer Gave His Victim Chloroform to Deepen Her Slumber, Then Shot Her While She Slept.

Hanchett Then Fired a Bullet into His Own Abdomen, but the Shot Was not Immediately Fatal.

Earl Hanchett, 20 years old, put a bullet through the heart of his sleeping girl-wife early yesterday morning, killing her almost instantly, and then shot himself in the abdomen, inflicting probably a fatal wound. The tragedy was the result of an ill-advised marriage, and the murderer attempted suicide through fear of being separated from his wife and the exposure of wrongdoing which he has committed during the past two weeks.

Mrs. Hanchett was 18 years old, and was the daughter of Mrs. S. M. Elliott, who now lives at No. 1055 Pennsylvania Avenue, Denver, Colo. The tragedy took place in room 19 of the Columbia Hotel, No. 612 South Broadway, where the couple had been living for the past week. Mrs. Hanchett gave birth to a son just four weeks ago, and during and since her confinement she has been attended by Mrs. J. H. Moyer, who occupied the adjoining room to the young couple.

About an hour previous to the tragedy, which occurred about 7 o'clock, Mrs. Moyer went into Hanchett's room to attend the baby and wake up Hanchett, who had said the night previous that he intended to leave for Santa Barbara yesterday morning in order to get into a situation as bookkeeper, which had been secured for him by one of the employment agencies. Mrs. Moyer attended to the baby's wants and placed it on the sofa, where it generally slept, and returned to her own room shortly after she heard a pistol shot. Jumping up she hurried toward Hanchett's room and heard Mrs. Hanchett cry out feebly: "Mrs. Moyer, Mrs. Moyer." Those were the only words uttered by the murdered woman.

Before Mrs. Moyer could open the door she heard another shot, and on entering the room she stumbled against Hanchett's body at the foot of the bed. She rushed up to Mrs. Hanchett and took her in her arms, asking her if she was hurt, but the girl made no response. Turning to the man on the floor she said: "What have you done, Earl? Have you shot yourself?"

"Yes," he replied. "And have you killed Georgia?"

"Yes," was the answer.

"My God, what did you do such a thing?" wailed Mrs. Moyer, who was deeply attached to the murdered girl.

"Well, I could not live without her, and she was going away."

"You didn't have to live without her; why couldn't you stay with me?"

"Oh, well I guess I must have been crazy."

"You were no more crazy than I am. You simply killed the poor girl out of meanness. Why didn't you do as good a job on yourself as you did on her?"

"I don't know, but if you'll give me the pistol again I'll finish it up."

Mrs. Moyer could not believe that the girl was dead and hurried into her room where she discovered a flask of whisky. She attempted to pour some of the liquid down Mrs. Hanchett's throat, hoping to revive her, but the girl's heart had ceased to beat. Mrs. Moyer then extinguished Hanchett's burning nightshirt, which had been set on fire by the explosion of the cartridge.

The body of the murdered girl was sent to Bresce Bros., where Coroner Holand will hold an inquest this morning at 9 o'clock. The patrol wagon was summoned, and Hanchett was sent to the Receiving Hospital, but was immediately transferred to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where Dr. Ralph Argan, assisted by Dr. Stivers and Dr. Pitt, operated upon him.

Mrs. Hanchett was asleep when her husband fired the fatal shot, and Mrs. Moyer is convinced that he gave chloroform before committing the act. When Mrs. Moyer first entered the room to attend to the baby's wants, she detected the odor of chloroform, but thought nothing of it at the time, attributing it to the kerosene lamp.

Hanchett was lying in the front part of the bed, on her left side, the head being about one foot away from the wall. Hanchett placed the revolver against his wife's back, under her left shoulder blade, and fired the bullet, completely hitting the heart. The bullet passed through her heart, as she was dead by the time Mrs. Moyer had entered the room. Hanchett then got up and walked around to the foot of the bed in his night clothes and lay down on the floor, firing the bullet into his abdomen. The surgeons opened the abdominal cavity and sewed up the wounds in the mesentery. The intestines had not been perforated, but there was considerable internal hemorrhage. The surgeons thought it probable that death would result from the shock.

HANCHETT'S MARRIAGE.

For several months before their marriage Earl Hanchett had been very attentive to Georgia Elliott. It is said that the association of the young couple had passed the bounds of propriety, and Hanchett made other frantic efforts to save the young girl, who was infatuated with her son. At that time young Hanchett had a good position. He was an intelligent, handsome young fellow, but had a tendency to waywardness. Mrs. Hanchett appeared to be more anxious concerning the girl than she was, and her son had a little over a year ago she called on Chief Glass for assistance. She said that her son had left his place with the Santa Fe, and that he and Georgia Elliott were missing. She feared they had run away together, and asked the aid of the Chief in getting back the girl.

Ton Quin was sent by Chief Glass to San Francisco, where it was thought the pair was stopping, but they could not be found. It was learned that the young couple had gone to San Francisco, where they had been married.

The young couple, however, absent from the city at the time, returned for the purpose of taking her daughter to Denver. She was astonished to find her daughter absent from the city, and more so when she learned that Georgia had married young Hanchett in San Francisco.

The couple returned to Los Angeles and Hanchett promised to settle down and behave himself. He seemed deeply attached to his wife and for a time things seemed bright for the young couple, but Hanchett failed to get suitable employment, and, according to his own statement, took to forging checks.

When the young wife gave birth to a son, Mrs. Elliott, the girl's mother, wished to have her daughter with her. She wrote stating that she would send her to the hospital and Mrs. Moyer, and that as soon as possible, she would secure a position for her son-in-law. Mrs. Hanchett was glad of the opportunity to go to her mother, but Hanchett was opposed to her leaving. The tickets were on the day, and were expected to arrive late night or this morning. To this and to the further fact that Hanchett was probably afraid of the discovery of his misdeeds, is attributed his shocking crime yesterday morning.

CASHED SPURIOUS CHECKS.

After Hanchett arrived at the Recieving Hospital yesterday morning, and was told that his wound would probably prove fatal, he made an antemortem statement, in which he confessed to having uttered spurious checks. He said that J. H. Trout, the Broadway druggist, cashed some of them.

"Yes," said Mr. Trout yesterday when asked concerning the matter. "I did cash one check for Hanchett on May 20 or Tuesday. The check was for $8, was signed by Mrs. J. A. Hanchett, and was made payable to Earl Hanchett."

Mr. Trout deposited the check in the Broadway Bank yesterday morning, but when informed that it was spurious, he said, "I will charge it to profit and loss, but no more checks go in my place."

BLEW IN HIS MONEY.

Mrs. Moyer said last night that although Hanchett has had several sums of money recently, he has spent it all on the outside in some manner instead of providing for his wife and his wife. On Monday, Mrs. Moyer says, Hanchett secured from Mrs. Ward, of Hope Street, $10, and on Tuesday received from Dr. Trout $8. Last week, the says, he borrowed between $30 and $40 from friends and said that he must have been addicted to gambling.

Mrs. Moyer says there is no truth in the report that there was another girl in the case, as Hanchett really thought she was his wife, but was too shiftless to provide for her. Mrs. Moyer also said that she had learned that the alleged situation which Hanchett had obtained in Santa Barbara was all a myth.

REMAINS TO GO EAST.

A mother and two married sisters survive the murdered girl, the former living at No. 1055 Pennsylvania Avenue, Denver, who was notified by Mrs. Moyer yesterday of her daughter's death. One of the sisters is Mrs. J. B. Shire, whose husband is a mining man, his place of business being at No. 509 Main Exchange, Denver, Colo. The other sister, Mrs. Edna Meredith, lives at Des Moines, Ia. Yesterday Mrs. Moyer notified Mrs. Moyer to have the body of her sister embalmed and take it to Des Moines for burial, stating that she would send the tickets immediately.

At 10 o'clock last night the attendants at the Good Samaritan Hospital heard another shot, and on entering the room she stumbled against Hanchett's body at the foot of the bed. She rushed up to Mrs. Hanchett and took her in her arms, asking her if she was hurt, but the girl made no response. Turning to the man on the floor she said: "What have you done, Earl? Have you shot yourself?"

"Yes," he replied.

"And have you killed Georgia?"

"Yes," was the answer.

"My God, what did you do such a thing?"

"I don't know, but if you'll give me the pistol again I'll finish it up."

Mrs. Moyer could not believe that the girl was dead and hurried into her room where she discovered a flask of whisky. She attempted to pour some of the liquid down Mrs. Hanchett's throat, hoping to revive her, but the girl's heart had ceased to beat. Mrs. Moyer then extinguished Hanchett's burning nightshirt, which had been set on fire by the explosion of the cartridge.

THE NEWPORT RAILWAY.Explanations of Its Acquisition by the Southern Pacific.

Yesterday was the time set for the transfer of the Santa Ana and Newport Beach Railway to the Southern Pacific by its late owners, Senator W. A. Clark and J. Ross Clark. The Southern Pacific already has a connection with its new purchase at Santa Ana, tracks uniting the two lines having been laid recently. The road will be operated as a part of the Southern Pacific system.

The Clarks made them force the road by the combined action of the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe. They say that the two roads put on the screws in the matter of freight rates and inter-railroad arrangements, and that the same conditions which James McFadden, the former owner of the line, had long enjoyed in his relations with the Santa Fe, were not continued.

As soon as the Clarks made preparations to extend their Westminster line to their sugar factory at Almato, the Southern Pacific sent a surveying party into the field, thus threatening to parallel the Clark line into the peat-lands and seize the cereal-carrying business, which was the mainstay of the Westminster branch. J. Ross Clark's interview with C. P. Huntington and the sale of the road followed.

"It would not be proper for me to discuss the price," said W. H. Hollister, vice-president of the line under Clark. "Clark lost no money in the deal, and the payment for the road was not in bonds, but every dollar in gold coin of the United States." The reason advanced for the favorable terms said to have been secured in the sale was that Huntington did not want to offend Clark, who was a man of great influence and capital, and that he felt apprehensive of what might follow if the rival road should be extended so as to join with the Terminal and thus gain entrance to San Pedro and Los Angeles.

A gentleman who has accurate knowledge of Santa Fe affairs says that the Clarks, as owners of the Newport line, have enjoyed exactly the same advantages in all their relations with the Santa Fe that Clark enjoyed with James McFadden: that the same methods of handling through business have been maintained, and that so far as the Santa Fe is concerned in no way have the new owners been hampered by any conditions different from those under which McFadden operated the road.

The acquisition of the line by the Southern Pacific means the diverting from the Santa Fe of a considerable amount of business hitherto turned over to that road by the Newport line. COLLECTING CHECKS. The Supreme Court of Oregon holds that it is not negligence in a bank to send an undivided check by mail for collection to the bank on which it is drawn, instead of employing an agent to present it for payment. It is scarcely necessary to remind the readers that while this decision seems to be in conflict with a principle generally regarded as a fixture of the law, says the American Banker, it is nevertheless founded in right reason and justified by the customs of bankers. The court does not say whether the same liberal principle would be applied to indorsed checks.

COMMERCIAL.

RETAILING JOBBERS. The jobbing grocery houses of Pittsburgh have been quite generally carrying on a retail business in connection with their regular line of trade. The retailers have therefore organized to fight the jobbers of that city. The Grocery World of Philadelphia says:

"The Pittsburgh Grocers' Wholesale Company has been incorporated under the laws of Virginia, and a capital stock of $300,000. Shares will be held to the total trade at $100 each, and none will be sold to any one not a retail grocer. Even retail grocers are prohibited from holding more than $3000 worth. The price of all shares purchased must be paid in cash, and those with practical effort, over two-thirds of the $300,000 stock has already been subscribed for, and that those grocers who are likely to be left out are clamoring for an increase in stock. This will probably be made."

SHORT PACK OF CHERRIES. The cherry season is practically over. Gross miscalculating was done on the growing crop, which was supposed to be fair. Now the season is over, it is realized that the crop is short, and it may be realized from the fact that the packers are offering to deliver as low as 5 per cent. of their contract. Prices are not made yet.

BALTIMORE CANNED GOODS. All of the packers are prepared to put up their usual quantity, but instead of the receipts increasing every day, they have actually fallen off, and today the receipts of peans on the wharf were about the lightest of any day so far.

Last year the best quality of peans sold at an average of $1.25 to $2 per barrel. This season the price opened at $2.75 per barrel, and steadily advanced to $3.20 per barrel, which was the price paid today. The outlook is for very much higher prices for the canned article, and if prices were made today on those peans which have already been packed, the figures would be anywhere from 20 to 40 cents per dozen above the price of last season's pack.

Peaches are stronger, and so are strawberries and gooseberries, and the opening prices of each of these articles will prove to be the lowest for this season, almost without any doubt.

The packing of new peans, pineapples, strawberries and gooseberries is progressing very slowly. The supply of each of these articles up to date is smaller than the demand, and in consequence the raw material has cost much more than was anticipated. Whether the use of the fair remains, the prevailing conditions were entirely unanticipated, and a decided change must come within the next two weeks to bring about a lower range of prices for the canned articles. Some important changes in prices are very likely to occur shortly.

The market has been quiet during the past week. Tomatoes are unchanged, and both spots and futures can be bought at our last quotations. The news from the peach sections is more encouraging, but nothing definite about the crop is known yet.

A TRUST BURST. The Banana Trust, whose headquarters were at New Orleans, has collapsed.

GOOD FOR CITRUS FRUIT. The enforcement of the pure fruit-juice law will cause a boom in oranges and lemons, says the Grocery World. In Greater New York alone there are fully 12,000 confectioners, 5000 confectioners and 5000 druggists, all whom are directly affected by this measure. In the State, outside of Greater New York, there are about 8000 saloon-keepers, 2500 confectioners, 3000 bakers and 2500 druggists. This law will prevent the acids in the concoction of drinks and in the preparation of fancy cakes and candies, and will compel saloon-keepers, confectioners, bakers and druggists to use genuine oranges and lemons. It has been figured that this will increase the sale of cans containing about 100 boxes per day, and of lemons, fully 5000 boxes per day. This increase, however, largely depends upon the enforcement of the law, and every one engaged in the fruit business should lend his support to any organization looking to that end.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS. PREVENTABLE LOSSES. The Department of Agriculture at Washington reports the losses of farm animals from disease and exposure in the twelve months ended May 1, last amounted to more than $500,000,000. On the basis of average values received by the department in January the loss from exposure amounted to $26,000,000, and that from disease to $46,000,000, a total of $75,000,000, five-sixths of which, says the department, is theoretically preventable, amounting on these figures the Chicago News says: "The theory of prevention is wrong in half the cases, and only $20,000 yearly of the loss is really preventable by means within the possible reach of the farmer and cattlemen; still this smaller sum represents 5 per cent. yearly interest on $600,000,000, and few industries would bear so enormous a waste if it were possible to prevent it."

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

LOS ANGELES MARKETS. LOS ANGELES, June 14, 1899. Poultry is coming in more freely than it is wanted. Merchants try to maintain prices in a nominal way, but the demand is very slow and a trifling difference in price is not permitted to check trade. Those who bring in a wagonload are driven to peddle some of it through the city.

Eggs are firm. In round lots fancy bring 17 cents, and in some cases 18 is obtained in a trifling way.

The local creameries is being followed in all brands of butter. The whole range of the market is 40 to 45 cents per pound. Early Rose are selling at $1.75 to $1.85 and other varieties at $1.50 to $1.75. There will be some north on the market today or tomorrow, which will probably have to sell at higher prices, at least $1.85.

There is a slight advance in 48-cent hams, bacon being steady. Winchester hams are a fraction dearer.

Receipts of all kinds of fresh fruit are below the natural requirements, and prices run very high. From dried black cherries down to small sizes. Currents went at 60 cents per box and retailed at 85 cents. Plums brought $1 to $1.25, and figs still go at $2.25 to $2.50. The small, tasteless pears coming in sold slowly at 50 to 75 cents.

Berries are about steady, excepting gooseberries, which are practically done.

Hay is coming in more freely. Round lots bring $8 for choice alfalfa and jobs at $10, and barley $10.50 to $11 for choice to fancy, jobbing at $12.

PASADENA.

PRESENTATION TO COL. BANGHAM LARGELY ATTENDED.

Honors Paid to Commander of American Club Battalion, Recently Promoted—An Insane Chinaman Brought Down from Linda Vista; New Packing-house Planned.

PASADENA, June 11.—[Regular Correspondence.] There was a big turnout of members of the American Club (and that means of the active men of Pasadena) at Grand Army Hall this evening, to witness and participate in the presentation of an elegant gold-mounted sword, belt and scabbard to Col. N. Bangham of the city, who has recently been appointed Assistant Adjutant-General of the State. The club is largely indebted to its former major for its efficiency and prosperity and took this way to manifest its appreciation of his services and to congratulate him on his new honor, other citizens competing.

A roar of applause, Col. Bangham marched in on the arm of President Dobbs. In opening the pleasant proceedings, the president said some of the staff had suggested that the club should have bought a saber for Col. Bangham, but he would guarantee that with the sword Col. Bangham could cut as broad a swath marching down Spring street as the star chief of the snake-fence movement. (Laughter.) He introduced Hon. James McLachlan, for the presentation speech.

Mr. McLachlan recited the fact that when the first military company was formed in Pasadena, Col. Bangham, then a boy of 18, attracted attention because he was so bashful, so awkward, so green—and had such a bright eye. That timid, backwoodsy boy became a general, and the laurels and fame he gained were recognized as one of the best informed military men of California. As Maj. Bangham, he led the American Club, for many years, Col. Bangham, who won the promotion which his ability and services deserved. Mr. McLachlan referred to the record of the American Club, and said that the great influence it exerted, the fine appearance it made and the recognition it won all over the state and beyond its borders, and he said it was well to remember that where the credit for this grand work was due to the soldierly skill, strict discipline and good fellowship of Maj. Bangham. All Pasadenaans were held in admiration by the pavilion, before an audience that numbered 200 people. The graduating class of '29 numbered thirty-six—the largest in the history of the school.

The class sang "The Song of the Sea," accompanied by Ercole G. Caccia. Mr. M. B. Shaw offered prayer, after which the class rendered the "Spring Song." Essays and orations by the graduates, interspersed with songs, formed the program arranged by Henry Conner of the Board of Education. After the presentation of the diplomas by Dr. Stiles, completed the programme. The roster of the class included: John C. Baker, John Baldwin, Edith Agnes Baxter, Jessie Marion Beach, Elmer G. Brus, Ruby Althea Bledsoe, Marie H. Cochran, Carrie Clark Coddington, Jeanette Davidson, Joshua C. Draper, Herbert Edgar, Anna Lee Fine, Julia Pope Goodell, Raymond Lucy Fowles, Harry William Gandy, Grace Merriam Harrison, May Louise Johnson, Beulah Morse Kendall, Inez E. Mee, Ruth M. Thirty-six High School Graduates Receive Diplomas.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] The ninth annual commencement exercises of the San Bernardino High School were held yesterday in the pavilion, before an audience that numbered 200 people. The graduating class of '29 numbered thirty-six—the largest in the history of the school.

The class sang "The Song of the Sea," accompanied by Ercole G. Caccia. Mr. M. B. Shaw offered prayer, after which the class rendered the "Spring Song." Essays and orations by the graduates, interspersed with songs, formed the program arranged by Henry Conner of the Board of Education. SAN BERNARDINO BREVIETIES.

Articles of incorporation were filed today by the Santa Paula Mining and Reduction Company, having a capital stock of $50,000. of which $25,000. has been subscribed by the following-named who constitute the board of directors: F. E. Edgar, R. H. Irwin, L. M. Hardison, John S. Starr and W. A. Carney.

Sheriff Rouse left for the North today, having in custody J. G. Bailey, who goes to San Quentin for a year for grand larceny.

The colonel added that he couldn't promise to use the sword in his country's defense. "Perhaps, though, if the war keeps on long enough, they will let us have it," he said. "I am sure that they would be able to bring the recognized National Guard of the State to a high degree of efficiency. The speaker referred to the efforts of the colonel to get into the fighting ranks during the Spanish war and declared he was worthy to be numbered with the heroes who succeeded in reaching the front. "We give you this sword," he said in conclusion, "to be used in the cause of American manhood, virtue and patriotism. We trust we may never have to stain it with blood."

(Great applause.)

In reply, Col. Bangham made a soldier's speech, and then home talking at drill, for there you can't talk back," said he. "I want to say, however, that I feel I'm ten feet tall now, I don't know how it feels to others. The colonel added that he couldn't promise to use the sword in his country's defense. "Perhaps, though, if the war keeps on long enough, they will let us have it," he said. "I am sure that they would be able to bring the recognized National Guard of the State to a high degree of efficiency. The speaker referred to the efforts of the colonel to get into the fighting ranks during the Spanish war and declared he was worthy to be numbered with the heroes who succeeded in reaching the front. "We give you this sword," he said in conclusion, "to be used in the cause of American manhood, virtue and patriotism. We trust we may never have to stain it with blood."

The case against Ah Jim, who was examined yesterday on his sanity, pending commitment to the Highland asylum, was dismissed by Judge Day.

Union High School Commencement Exercises.

REDLANDS, June 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] For the commencement exercises of the Redlands-Laguna-Crafton Union High School at the Academy of Music last night, the box-office sheet was opened ten days ago and every seat in the house was reserved before the close of the first day. The academy was, of course, filled last night friends of the school—two hundred in number.

The hall was decorated with palms and the stage with the class colors, orange and white. The class motto, "Non honores sed honor" (not honors, but honor) wrought in sunflowers upon a white ground, was spread upon the floor of the stage.

The entertainment of the evening was Prof. C. A. Dunaway of Stanford, whose subject was "Patriotism in War and Peace."

The Redlands Orchestras singing by the High School double quartette, a review of the year's work by Principal Avery, and the presentation of the diplomas.

Protect Our Food.

The doctors inform us that alum is a poison, and that alum baking powders should be avoided because they make the food tasteless. The manufacturers of these powders have given the matter most study, regard these powders as an evil action. It is impossible to sell them unless they are branded to warn consumers of their true character, while in the District of Columbia the authorities have passed a law forbidding the use of alum in regulations to prohibit the use of alum in bread altogether.

Until we can have protection in the form of laws, we can our State boards of health, State analysts or food commissioners, who have arranged to secure plans. C. E. Tebbets, A. Scholfield, C. H. Thompson, W. A. Heiss, James Craig, F. P. Hugus and E. H. Royce have organized a committee to secure a resolution. They have organized by electing C. E. Tebbets president and T. J. Ashby secretary. The money is forthcoming for the new writer, and the bill will be introduced in the Legislature.

PASADENA DECIDUOUS FRUIT EXCHANGE.

Arrangements have been partly completed by the Pasadena Deciduous Fruit Exchange for the new season, and the exchange is in the hands of Secretary Ashby, who has secured plans. C. E. Tebbets, A. Scholfield, C. H. Thompson, W. A. Heiss, James Craig, F. P. Hugus and E. H. Royce have organized a committee to secure a resolution. They have organized by electing C. E. Tebbets president and T. J. Ashby secretary. The money is forthcoming for the new writer, and the bill will be introduced in the Legislature.

PASADENA BREVIETIES.

Capt. G. C. Less of this city, who has settled in Los Angeles and Wisconsin, many watersports, suggests that if a gunpowder bomb is fired into one of the tunnel-shaped wrecks, a few feet below the surface, it will be discovered to be a mine, and the tunnel will be broken by the concussion, and will be open for passage.

Pasadena Lodge of Good Templars initiated five candidates last evening. Plans under consideration for holding a temperance meeting in the city, and the Lodge there. Pasadena will send a good delegation to the County Lodge picnic at East Side Park, Los Angeles, July 1.

All the operations have been suspended for the commencement exercises of Throop Institute Thursday evening. At 8 o'clock all reserve seats not occupied will be sold at 25 cents or less per pound are of this dangerous class. Pure cream of tartar powders are usually sold from 45 to 50 cents a pound.

SANTA MONICA.

SANTA MONICA, June 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] J. E. Priest was arrested in this city today and taken before City Recorder Wells on complaint of Charlotte A. Wells, charging him with felonious adultery with Mrs. Jane Doe. The preliminary examination was set for next Tuesday. The charge was raised on ball. He says the charge is false.

A cottage on South Third street, owned by C. S. Dean and occupied by Fred Haskell, caught fire this morning. The stove was quenched this morning but the flames were quenched. The damage did not exceed $100.

The School Board, at the special school election on the question of raising money for a kindergarten, will also ask the voters to contribute a sum to the benefit of the Fraternal Brotherhood.

The Fraternal Brotherhood has started a race for new members, with J. A. de Peirre as captain of the two sides.

Nathan Mears, who is now in the East, is reported to have sold his seven-acre place in Altadena to Massachusetts gentleman.

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND.

Great Work with the Rod and Reel. Fish for the Needy.

AVALON, June 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] The greatest catch of fish ever made in Catalina waters with rod and reel was that secured when Henry A. Darling and Horace Langford Jr. arrived in the result of their day's sport ten years' yellowtail, silver bonito and a lot of whitefish and rock bass, making a total of forty-eight fish and aggregating fully 500 pounds. This almost shamed the record of the old-line, which were used a few years ago by Capt. Clegg.

The Tuna Club is taking active measures to prevent the waste of the magnificent table fish which are daily brought to the sportmen. Prof. Holder, president of the club, who is to take a trip around the Associated Charities of Los Angeles and transportation companies to receive and transport the fish, and it is hoped the species will be kept in the sun until they fester, and then be dumped into the bay, to be a thing of the past.

The Southern Pacific gave a magnificent extra and special excursion to the board rendered by the City Attorney that the board could not take the property on five years' time, as offered by bond by law to pay off the construction debts ahead for which there is no fund available.

Sot machines will hold good in the city for three weeks more. The problem is to find a market for the fish. The several machines in operation in town are doing a good business in the mean time.

The successive growth of red cherries in the valley has been accomplished this season for the first time in this section. On the Eyman ranch trees are heavily laden with perfect fruit.

The Santa Fe is putting its approaches to the city in good shape. The track is ready to receive six inches and in some places more. About six weeks of work remains to be done. Next week the working force will be increased to fifty men.

CITY OFFICIALS VISIT JAPANESE TRAINING SHIP.

Shore Drill to Be Given by the Little Fighters—Col. Randlett, Indian Agent—Back from Manila. Coronado Notes.

SAN DIEGO, June 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] The Japanese training ship, Hi-yo, is the center of attraction nowadays, and the power launches are doing a big business taking tourists out to the ship. The Indians and maid-servants who obtain shore leave and come upstairs are subjects of considerable comment, but it is always favorable, as all are quiet and orderly, and make a neat appearance, and have a soldierly bearing. Yesterday afternoon Mayor Cappa and Acting President Ballou and Secretary H. P. Wood of the Board of Education visited the ship and were entertained by Capt. Nakayama and other officers with the official Japanese delegation. Soon after his arrival Capt. Nakayama expressed a desire to give an exhibition drill on shore while here. In accordance with this expressed wish, Mayor Cappa sent a telegram to Gen. Shafter, commanding Capt. Hubbard and Capt. D. H. Springer of the Southern Pacific to grant permission for Capt. Nakayama to land his men and give a drill. A favorable reply was received yesterday noon, and when a boat was rowed to the hotel the men were ashore and the drill was to begin at 4 p.m. A race will be rowed at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon between a ten-oared cutter from the Pinta manned by members of the Naval Reserve battalion, the latter having sent a challenge, which was promptly accepted by the Japanese.

LONG BEACH.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AT THE FRIENDS' YEARLY MEETING.

LONG BEACH, June 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] Officers for the ensuing twelve months were elected this morning at the Friends' yearly meeting. The delegates from the several churches of the State met and agreed to nominate the old officers.

Nominations of officers were afterward presented to the meeting and were confirmed as follows: Presiding clerk, John Chawner of Whittier; recording clerk, Mrs. Charley E. Way of Long Beach; treasurer, G. W. Luce and F. H. Springer of the Southern Pacific Company are here today, but they are non-committal as to the future plans of the company in this city. They simply say that the meeting will be held here, and the name of the place will be given when the time comes.

The Santa Fe is putting its approaches to the city in good shape. The track is ready to receive six inches and in some places more. About six weeks of work remains to be done. Next week the working force will be increased to fifty men.

INJUNCTION WRIT DENIED.

Judge Wellborn Refuses a Land Company's Application.Judge Wellborn gave an oral opinion in the United States Circuit Court yesterday, in which he denied the application of the Iowa and California Land Company for an injunction against the Temescal Water Company.
The complainant company owns considerable land in Riverside county, for the irrigation of which it is dependent upon the defendant company. Stock in the latter concern is claimed to be owned by the land company, in the original, and the water was held in the Circuit Court May 10.The action was brought to prevent the defendant company from collecting an assessment on its stock held by the complainant, which company alleged that its water right had been taken off, and that it was receiving no benefit therefrom. It was alleged that the defendant company had threatened to sell the complainant's stock if the assessment was not paid, and it was to prevent this action that the injunction was asked for.

LA FIESTA FADES.

Association Will Soon Be Only a
Memory.The Executive Committee of La Fiesta de Los Angeles held a meeting in the rooms of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association yesterday to consider the steps necessary to closing the affairs of the organization. The lease on Fiesta Park expired June 1, and it was given up. The meeting yesterday confirmed the sale of the old benches at the park, the proceeds of which will be sufficient to settle the outstanding indebtedness of the organization.C. F. Sloane, formerly secretary of the association, has taken up his residence in San Francisco, and F. J. Zeelandelaar was elected in his stead.
There are still several small matters to be arranged before the association will wind up its affairs, and two or three more meetings of the Executive Committee will be held.

A Ton of Note Paper

Below is the news of three most remarkable stationery offers. It is only by buying in immense quantities that such extraordinary values can be secured and given. One of the latest trusts is a combination of writing paper mills, perfected for the purpose of raising prices. Right in the teeth of this growing trust we fling these prices, and will continue to do so as long as we exist. We always were and always will be a power for lowering prices.

The "Avalon" Contains 24 sheets of note paper and 24 envelopes. This paper is as good in quality as much that is sold at 25c a box. The only difference is in the box, which at 25c would have a pretty picture on the cover. It is a heavy cream wove paper and comes either ruled or plain. Probably a thousand boxes of this kind ready for selling today at.....

10c A Box

"Sierra Madre" Cabinet box containing 60 sheets of note paper and 60 envelopes to match. It comes in all the popular tints, cream, lavender, baby blue, and pink, called the "Snowflake tints," easy to write on and very firm and heavy. Exclusive of the box it weighs a full pound. A box that nine out of ten stores sells at 50c. It is only just 25c A Box that we should sell it at.....

25c A Box

"Real Irish Linen" Very fine

linen note paper. 60 sheets and 60 envelopes, cream white, either ruled or plain

A full pound exclusive of the box. A paper that is always in good taste. And it never looks cheap or is imitated. A regular 50c quality in every stationery store in the country. We start this sale with ample quantity, but it will sell out quickly at.....

25c A Box

Turkish Towels
